Study liquor law revision

A study to determine if changes are needed in Granite City's liquor licensing ordinance — including an extension of operating hours for taverns — will be initiated by a special City Council committee at a meeting tonight. Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward, chairman of the special committee, which also includes Aldermen Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward and Glen Sprinkle of the Fourth Ward, said the discussions will involve the possibility of increased fees for tavern licenses, reclassification of the types of licenses and longer tavern hours.

Douglas noted there have been complaints about some taverns that remain open after the 1 a.m. closing hour specified in the present liquor control ordinance, and that the committee will consider whether

METROPOLITAN THEODOSIUS of the Orthodox Church of America

Theodosius is returning

Metropolitan Theodosius, 15th ruling hierarch of the North American continent and the second since the Orthodox Church in America was granted full independence by the Russian Orthodox Church, will return for a visit to Madison Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 18 and 19.

A special vesper service will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 17, at the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Church, 418 Ewing Ave., Madison. Archbishop John of the Chicago-Minneapolis diocese will accompany the Metropolitan.

Following the services on Saturday, a tea will be held at the church in his honor. At 9:30 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 19, a processional to the church will be held with the Hierarchical Divine liturgy at 10 a.m.

A banquet, by reservation only, will be held at 1 p.m. at the Croatian Home, Tenth and Iowa streets, Madison. Metropolitan Theodosius, 44, is the first ruling hierarch of the Orthodox Church to be American born. He was elected primate at the fifth All-American Council of the Orthodox Church in United Way aiding in severe winter; Donovan to lead drive

The Tri-Cities Area United Way and its member agencies have been playing a vital role in helping individuals and families cope with the severe weather this winter, reports indicated at the annual meeting of UW contributors Thursday afternoon at the YMCA.

In addition to the work of the regular agencies, there has been much activity in the One-to-Four Family Disaster Program and in AFL-CIO Community Services, it was noted.

The contributors elected to the United Way board for three-year terms John Blasingame, Edward Boyer, Jerry Harrington, Mrs. Mary Jessee, George Knecht, Chris Kacaleff, Brew Karandjeff, Robert Vickers, Eugene L. West and Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer. Blasingame, Boyer and Mrs. Mary Tarpoff were chosen to serve on the executive committee along with the five officers and the two immediate past presidents.

At a later meeting Thursday, the board re-elected William F. Winter as president, David Fox as president-elect, Bill H. Terrell as vice-president and Thomas Majewski as treasurer. Mrs. Mary Jessee was elected as secretary, succeeding Mrs. Margaret Lee.

Winter announced the selection of William P. Donovan as general chairman of the next annual United Way campaign.

Kirkpatrick cleanup 'Favors,' spending, deficits

Acting under warnings that complaints would be issued by the city unless action was taken, the Granite City Housing Authority is completing a cleanup campaign in the Kirkpatrick Homes housing complex. It was learned by the Press-Record last week.

Emerald Dawes, former Seventh Ward alderman and now city inspector, said the Kirkpatrick Homes cleanup project is the first phase of a drive that will be conducted citywide to eliminate trash and debris in yards and alleys, possible at extra costs to the householders who fail to comply.

In notices sent by David W. Morgan, executive director of the housing authority, tenants of Kirkpatrick Homes were told that a charge of $5 is being made on the account of each tenant living in quarters where it was necessary for the authority to pay hauling charges to remove litter and trash. Morgan told tenants that Succeed again in thwarting 2 area race bet offices

Following actions by Granite City police against the Finish Line Express office here Wednesday and Thursday, attorneys for the horse race messenger service ordered the office closed at 2 p.m. Friday until there is additional court action to determine if the business can operate legally.

Former St. Clair County State's Attorney Robert Rice, now an attorney for Finish Line Express offices in Granite City, Venice and East St. Louis, is quoted as saying there will be no further attempts to open the offices in Madison County until there is another hearing in the First District Appellate Court in Chicago. The East St. Louis office was to continue operations, it was indicated.

The complex legal issue of whether the messenger services are operating within the law is considered by Madison County officials the result of failure on the part of the First District Appellate Court to act upon a suit which challenges a state law prohibiting such operations. Injunctions and other orders

Nursing school plans workshop

The Continuing Education Program in the School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a health assessment workshop for nurses, beginning March 1, according to Betty Boyd Walker, director of the program.

The five-week mini-course will meet Wednesdays from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Sessions will meet in the Illinois Room of the University Center on the Edwardsville campus with the exception of the March 22 meeting which will be held in the Missouri Room of the Center.

Registration for the entire workshop is $40. Deadline for registration is Feb. 22. Participants enrolled in the course will become aware of potential problems that new skills in the nursing role may bring. They will learn to assess the adequacy of various physiological systems and identify developmental differences in health histories and physical examinations.

Nurses also will learn how to obtain a complete health history and conduct a physical examination, writing up the history and findings in a logical sequence.

Instructor for the course will be Linda L. Lillis, instructor in the SIUE School of Nursing.

Dates of sessions and topics to be covered include:

March 1—History, modes, head, neck, extremities and skin.

March 8—EENT and neuro assessment.

March 15—Thorax, cardiovascular system and heart sounds.

March 22—Thorax, pulmonary system and lung sounds.

March 29—Breast, genitalia and gastrointestinal areas.

Participants successfully completing the course will receive 30 contact hours.

Registration will be limited to 30 participants.

Additional information concerning this workshop and other workshops offered by the SIUE School of Nursing may be obtained by Quad-Cityans by contacting Mrs. Walker at (618) 692-3856.

Bank promotes L. R. Wright

Cottonwood Bank, Glen Carbon, has elected Lynn R. Wright as a vice-president. E. H. Austermann Jr., president, announced.

Wright, a native of Edwardsville, joined the bank in April 1977 as cashier. He will continue in that capacity.

Wright presently lives in Granite City with his wife, Charlotte, and two children. He is a member of the American Institute of Banking.

In addition, Austermann announced that he, Wright and the following were re-elected at the bank's annual meeting: Duncan D. Tully, vice president; Richard L. Watson, assistant vice-president; Judith Koen Manton, banking officer; and directors, K. J. Hagist, chairman, E. H. Austermann Jr.; F. B. Hamlin; H. L. Malench; E. F. Niebrgegge; and D. W. Smith. Mrs. Manton serves as secretary to the board.

Austermann reported to shareholders that the bank was profitable during 1977, its second full calendar year of business. Deposits increased by 22 percent and loans by 82 percent during the year.

Cottonwood Bank was chartered by the state of Illinois in 1975 with $1,000,000 in capital. At the end of 1977 assets were $9,638,000.

BAND PARENTS TO MEET

A meeting of the Granite City High School South band parents will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school band room. Bernard Miller, president, announced the meeting is open to all interested parties.

Chouteau named in law suit

A suit was filed in the Third Judicial Court in Granite City Friday morning against Chouteau Township by two former employees of the township road department.

Hubert E. Futch and Robert E. Miller, who no longer are employed by Chouteau Township, filed the suit, which alleges the township refused to pay overtime and vacation pay for a period of employment in December 1976, January 1977 and February 1977.

Futch is seeking $1,215 actual damages and $5,000 in punitive damages, plus attorney fees and court costs.

Miller asks $1,114 actual damages and $5,000 punitive damages, plus attorney fees and costs.

They are being represented by Attorney Leon G. Scroggins, who filed the suit.

Arrest GC man on warrant

Henry M. Fassold, 18, of 2225 Grand Ave., was arrested by Granite City officers at 2607 W. 22nd St., at 9:30 a.m. Sunday on a felony warrant from Houston, Mo., alleging stealing more than $50 worth of items.

Police first were told he was staying with a friend.

They talked to several persons before locating Fassold and arresting him for Missouri authorities.

Police then recovered a pocket knife and several photographs from Fassold's home which were allegedly taken from the home of Roy Wiggins, Success, Mo., and were told others "lost" is at a St. Louis man's home.

Fassold was held here pending receipt of the warrant from Missouri and officers said they plan to talk to a juvenile in an attempt to recover other merchandise.

Board to act on sheriff's new car bids

The Madison County Board will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday to act on bids for six new cars for the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Action on the bids was tabled at the last meeting to give board members the opportunity to see if the cars can be purchased at a lower cost through the state purchasing pool.

There also is expected to be discussion on trading in some cars with only 40,000 miles use and on purchasing a luxury auto for the sheriff. Highland Pontiac of Highland has submitted the lowest bid at $23,835 for the six cars, with trade-ins.

The board also is to consider a resolution to establish a Department of Public Works, a resolution to seek bids for a tornado warning siren for the city of Madison, a resolution authorizing the demolition of unsafe buildings in Nameoki Township, and one authorizing the county to enter into a new lease agreement with owners of the sheriff's department service garage in Edwardsville.

The county board will meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the board room of the Madison County Courthouse at Edwardsville.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS. Mrs. Minnie Curtis, 2523 Circle Drive, reported at 3:30 p.m. Thursday a burglar shattered the glass window on the rear door and entered the home, taking a pair of binoculars in a black case. A gun cabinet had been broken, but none of the weapons appeared to be missing.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Rose Ann (Sudek) Guida; three daughters, Mrs. Richard (Tony) Shabo of Granite City, Mrs. Michael, Randy and Harry Lee Guida, all of Madison; and one grandson.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

News notes

A low bid of $1,192,500 has been submitted by the Massman Construction Co., Kansas City, Mo., for bank reclamation work along the Chain of Rocks Canal. About 300,000 tons of stone will be placed along canal banks and there will be grading to fight erosion.

Steel imports reached a record 19,307,000 tons in 1977.

The public is being invited to a $25-per-person "night with Mike" Bakalaia from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 21, at Shopton Steak House, Interstate 70 and Route 203 south of Madison, given by Madison and St. Clair counties Democrats to honor the governor candidate.

SUITE STUDENTS will present the musical, "Cabaret," Feb. 22, 23, 24 and 25 in the Communications Building theater.

Paul Guenther will speak on "Literature Under the Nazis" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Mississippi Room of the SIUE University Center.

LAKEVIEW ACADEMY DEFEATS CRUSADERS. The Lakeview Christian Academy basketball Patriots defeated the Heritage Christian Crusaders at Marion, Ill., Thursday by 68-25.

High scorers for the Patriots were Mike Cochran, 19, and Mike Lybarger, 18. The team record to date is two wins and 10 losses.

VAN BURNED. Madison County deputies found a van burning in Lewis and Clark Park that had been reported stolen at 6:30 p.m. Saturday from the OK Corral Lounge parking lot, 3309 Nameoki Road. The van belonging to Gary Edgerton, 4043 Brune Ave., also reportedly had $500 in tools inside it, which were missing.

CARS COLLIDE ON LOT. Auto operated by Thomas B. Holman, 3301 Johnson Road, and Donna M. Bausch, 1908 St. Clair Ave., collided while moving through the parking lot near Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl, 3701 Nameoki Road, at 5:55 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Bausch reportedly sustained a minor injury in the mishap.

BURGLARY OF HOME. Ken Robinson, 3005 Iowa St., left his home at about 11 p.m. Friday and returned at 2:20 a.m. Saturday to find the front door to his house ajar. He found thieves had taken a black and white television valued at $50, an AM-FM cassette player worth $100 and two back packs valued at $25 each.

have been issued by that court, rather than a ruling on the merits of the state law, and there are questions whether an injunction issued by the First District court affects officials in other districts.

Queen Esther Dean, 40, of 108 N. 18th St., East St. Louis, was arrested for the second time in two days at 10:10 a.m. Thursday by a 19-year-old Granite City man tried to place a $2 bet on the daily double at the Cahokia race track at the Finish Line Express track messenger service, 1415 Twenty-first St.

Morgan said the housing authority had hired extra men and a truck to eliminate the problem.

In addition, Morgan said, dogs in the housing project are a problem "that will be taken into consideration in the very near future by the authority and the city."

"If you have a dog, I suggest you find a good home for it now," the tenants were told.

The housing department listed rules which he said will be enforced. These include:

Comply with all obligations upon tenants by building and housing codes and by city ordinances materially affecting health and safety.

Keep the premises in a clean and sanitary condition.

Keep the yard in front, rear and sides in a neat and orderly manner by cutting grass and keep yards free of broken glass, cans and other debris.

Diagnose of rubbish, garbage and other waste in trash cans in a sanitary and safe manner.

Morgan said that city inspectors plan to make regular visits to inspect the complex, and that "On any other future cleanup of this nature, a charge of $5 will be placed" on accounts where trash or debris has to be hauled away by the authority.

Daves said the cleanup was sought after he and Building Inspector Anthony Rusick inspected the area and found the yards of many of the housing units "in very bad condition."

Daves said that such a cleanup program will be extended to residential yards in alleys in the immediate future.

"If residents fail to comply with recommendations for improvement in cases where bad conditions are found, it is likely that our department will order the debris hauled away, and the homeowner assessed with the cost," Daves said.

"The Granite City Housing Authority was given an ultimatum (by the city) to clean up the area in three days or be given a citation by the city regarding the unsanitary conditions of the health and welfare of the tenants. This (warning) also involves the tenant where the debris and junk was spotted by the inspectors."

Morgan said that the complaints by the inspectors were checked, and "we found the (housing) project in a very deplorable condition. It was unbelievable that tenants would allow the yards to get in such a condition."

Morgan noted that the problems did not involve paper and shingles which had been left by a roofing contractor during a repair job.

"This was not taken into consideration as part of the citation to tenants," Morgan said in the notice to tenants. "The contractor was notified and cleaning up his mess. The debris and junk (in yards) was bottles, cans, garbage, used diapers, old furniture, washing machines, parts of bicycles, old rusty lawnmowers no longer usable and various other objects strewn in yards."

Morgan said the housing authority had hired extra men and a truck to eliminate the problem.

In addition, Morgan said, dogs in the housing project are a problem "that will be taken into consideration in the very near future by the authority and the city."

Woman falls from window at St. Louis hospital

Mrs. Beverly Seybert, 44, of 2421 Iowa St., who was recuperating in Firmend Desloge Hospital after an auto accident in Granite City Wednesday, jumped or fell from an eighth floor window of the hospital about 7:45 p.m. Friday and fell on a fifth floor roof.

She was described in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit during the weekend. Sources indicated a chair in Mrs. Seybert's room toppled and she went through the window.

Study on overpass

Beginning tomorrow, weather permitting, the Granite City engineering department will conduct a destination study at the 10th Street railroad crossing. The crossing is the proposed site of a grade separation between downtown and the West Granite City area.

The study will begin at noon and continue through 3 p.m. No names, addresses or phone numbers will be asked, but motorists have been requested to cooperate with the study by telling where they began their trip and what their destination is, officials said.

The information is necessary to find out how many motorists use the crossing each day and how many trips are made between the downtown area and West Granite City.

The study is required to support the need of the overpass spanning the railroad tracks and divide the two parts of the city.

If the weather Tuesday is too cold or unfavorable, for such a study, the next day will be utilized.

garage was used as "an auto body shop" to repair private automobiles, with the township paying for parts, paint and other materials.

Estes has denied the allegations, saying he was not involved in blacktopping Cooper's driveway, did drainage work on private property only to protect township roads, and purchased paint and materials for repairing only township vehicles.

Estes also has, on many occasions, blamed voters of Chouteau Township for the department's financial crisis, recalling that for three consecutive years, 1971, 1972 and 1973, the voters at the annual town meeting voted against a special hard road fund levy of 16.7 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

In March 1975, while serving as a full-time sheriff's deputy and as the township's highway commissioner, Estes told the board that he deserved a raise, since his full-time highway employees were making more money than he was from the township.

He contended that, although he was unable to spend full-time working for the township, "The job that I am doing for the

North units to perform at Officer Friendly benefit

The traditional upbeat tempos and fast-paced music of the Granite City North High Pep Band will again ring out in Memorial Gymnasium on Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, as the widely-known North students provide live musical entertainment and backup for three specialty groups from the North band department.

The live performance will include 50 musicians and 32 performers on the floor, lending color and excitement to the Officer Friendly benefit basketball game between the best team of Granite City policemen and firemen and a celebrity lineup of Big Red All Stars of the St. Louis football Cardinals.

Entertaining an expected capacity crowd at halftime will be the national-award-winning Steel City Belles Pom Pops Squad and its sister squads of North Guard Flags and Rifles.

The North Pep Band will provide 30 minutes of pregame musical fare to prepare the audience for the contest between the local team and the brawny visitors, led by Roger Wehrli, all-pro Cardinal cornerback.

The Steel City Belles Pom Pops Squad is under the direction of Laura Allen and Cathy Messina, assisted by Karen Hatscher.

North Guard Flags are directed by Dee Dee Davis, assisted by Donna McBride. The North Guard Rifles are led by Rhonda Stamps, assisted by Lisa Henderson.

Donald Walton is the lead percussionist of the North Pep Band and the entire group is under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff, band director.

Tickets for the Feb. 28 game are now available at Granite City police headquarters, all three fire stations in Granite City and Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, 3600 Nameoki Road, co-sponsor of the benefit match.

Or, tickets, costing $2 each and admitting one adult or two children under 12, may be purchased at the gate on the night of the game.

Other halftime entertainment is being planned, according to Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffmann) of the Granite City Police Department.

Proceeds from the benefit match will be used to support the Officer Friendly Athletic Fund, which aids youth teams.

Loren Erwin, assistant administrator Massac Memorial Hospital; Ned Lucco, patient accounts manager, Memorial Hospital, Belleville; Alan Weinstein, vice president Shared Services, Illinois Hospital Association; Thomas Raleigh, administrator Illinois Collection Acr; Larry Ramsey, business manager Massac Memorial Hospital.

Holly trees termed horticulture 'gems'

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Horticulture Adviser

Holly trees are horticultural gems because of their relatively small size, compact form, and handsome winter berries. St. Louis is the last northern outpost for many hollies because these traditional southern plants cannot survive the cold weather.

Winters like the winter of 1977 cause some hollies to lose their leaves and winter-kill. When this occurs, that plant, in that location, is not winter hardy. The same plant on the east or north side of a house among other plants, often survives.

Heavy mulch, protection from the warming afternoon sun and westerly winds, can make the difference. When holly still suffers, don't be discouraged. New hybrids, proven varieties of traditional hollies and relatively undiscovered species of holly offer plenty of choices for landscapes in Southern Illinois.

Poosonhaw Holly (Ilex Decidua) is a small tree that loses its leaves in the winter. It develops as a round-topped tree of 12 to 15 feet tall and 10 to 12 feet wide. The summer foliage consists of relatively small, smooth dull-green leaves that have no resemblance to evergreen hollies.

The berries are orange to scarlet about one-third of an inch in size. They ripen in September and last until March. Poosonhaw Holly will develop as an enormous round-topped shrub unless it is trimmed up and crossing limbs removed.

Poosonhaw Holly is a native tree along the Mississippi bottoms and hillsides. Several nurserymen have developed horticultural varieties from these wild parents that are spectacular in the winter time. The profusion of shiny orange berries creates a holiday effect. This traditional small tree is best used as a specimen tree near a patio or a foundation plant near two-story homes.

The berries are not attractive to birds until late winter. During the cold weather of the past week, mocking birds and robins seem to be growing fat on Poosonhaw holly berries while other wintering birds refuse to eat them. A male tree must be planted nearby to insure a heavy crop of berries every year.

Blue Angel and Blue Princess are two new hybrid hollies that are a sensation. They are more winter hardy than American Holly, have purplish-blue stems, shiny evergreen leaves and attractive red berries.

"Meserve" Holly represents this family of new hybrids developed by Mrs. F. Leighton Meserve, an amateur holly hybridizer at St. James, N.Y. The "Meserve" hollies have purplish blue stems.

Blue Angel and Blue Princess are two female varieties of Meserve Holly while Blue Prince is a handsome male. Blue Angel has crinkled, dark glossy green leaves with large shiny deep red berries. Blue Princess foliage is glossy bluish green.

This tree is very fruitful. Blue Prince, male, has the same shiny green foliage and purplish blue twigs as his two sisters. All three of these hybrids are dense broad pyramids. There is no winter coloration to the leaves. Several horticulturists rank the "Meserve" hollies as the "most handsome" of all the hollies.

Workshop on aging

A workshop on the topic, "How to Handle the Process of Aging," will be conducted by the Continuing Education Program of the School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at four different locations within the state during March and April.

The one-day workshops will be held in Room A of the Student Center at SIUE at Carbondale on March 2, at the University Center on the SIUE campus on March 16, at St. John's Hospital in Springfield on April 6, and at Sherman Hospital in Elgin on April 20.

All of the workshops are scheduled from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Registration is $9. Deadline for registration will be one week before the workshop. Participants will earn nine contact hours. Instructor for the one-day workshop will be Lynn Sokol, consultant in gerontology.

Curriculum content of the course will include a study of the need for supportive services, intergenerational differences in institutional care, and physical and psychological health problems of the aged.

Students also will explore death and dying, considering special concerns such as living wills, counseling needs, and staff training for health personnel.

Pharmacology and age-related problems, future health trends, and stress on career preparations will also be examined, along with community medicine, day care, terminal care centers and communication problems as they relate to patients, their families and health care personnel.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the School of Nursing at SIUE.

Pills taken in house burglary

A large quantity of prescription drugs was taken in a burglary at the home of Sharon Bennett, 4405 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported at 4:25 p.m. Thursday.

Most of the medicine was in pill form in bottles, which were taken from a kitchen table and cabinet. Molding around a plexiglass window in the front door had been broken and the intruder reached inside to unlock the door.

Mrs. Bennett arrived home to find a rear door standing open.

Joint venture to produce insulation

Alton Box Board Co., headquartered in Alton, and U.S. Fiber Corp., headquartered in Delphos, Ohio, have announced that an agreement has been reached for a joint venture to manufacture and market cellulose fiber insulation.

The announcement was made jointly by Edwin J. Spiegel Jr., chairman and president of Alton Box Board Co., and Jeffrey P. Birkmeier, president of U.S. Fiber Corp.

It is anticipated that manufacturing operations will commence in Louisville, Ky., during the second quarter of 1978 and that additional locations will be established in the midwest and southeast areas of the United States.

Alton Box Board Co. is a fully integrated packaging organization and a leading producer of quality paperboard and paperboard packaging. It is also a major collector and marketer of reclaimable cellulose fiber which, combined with fire retardant chemicals, produces a highly efficient residential insulation.

U.S. Fiber is one of the largest manufacturers of cellulose fiber insulation in the country and operates facilities in six cities located in five states.

take place in the University Center, is being sponsored by the Student Government at SIUE, according to Buzz Butler, research assistant for the government.

The Madison County clerk's office is supplying people to run the registration booths.

To entertain registrants, the band "Andriun" will play in Graham lounge from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Information tables will be set up in the Center to accommodate political candidates. According to Butler, candidates from the 49th, 55th, 56th and 57th legislative districts will be available to answer questions about the political campaign.

"We've had a good response from candidates. I know of 15 people who will definitely be

Butler suggested that the issue of a tuition increase at SIUE may be a good one to raise with the candidates.

In order to be eligible to vote, an individual must be 18 years old, a U.S. citizen, a resident of Illinois for 30 days and a resident of the same precinct for 30 days, he said.

Existing voters in the county will be able to update any information, such as names and addresses or make any changes in their voting status. In order to vote in the March 21 primary, a person must be registered by Feb. 21 - 29 days before the primary date.

Grain reserve is not working

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

President Carter's Grain Reserve Program, centerpiece of his effort to boost crop prices and to help to stabilize the market, is not working.

That is the message going to Mr. Carter from Congress and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

Under the program, farmers put their corn in storage as collateral for government loans for three to five years—or less if market prices improve dramatically.

As an incentive, the farmers are paid 20 cents a bushel to store wheat, corn, barley and sorghum and 15 cents per bushel for oats.

In exchange, the farmers agree to hold their grain off the market until the price reaches the minimum release level—140 per cent of the loan rate for wheat and 125 percent for feed grains—or until the contract expires.

The benefits are supposed to be two-fold: The grain reserve creates a supply to help meet world needs; and holding grain off the market in times of surplus is supposed to bring prices up.

The problem is—it is not working.

Even with depressed markets, farmers are still selling their grain rather than putting it in storage.

Reps. Paul Simon, D-Ill., and David E. Bonior, D-Mich., are asking to stimulate the program. They note that farmers have committed only about 75 million bushels of wheat to the proposed 300-million bushel reserve.

In a letter to Mr. Carter signed by 52 other House members, they urge the president to act.

—Reduce or eliminate the seven percent interest charged on reserve loans.

—Increase the storage payments by a nickel a bushel to come closer to rates charged by commercial elevators.

—Relax the eligibility requirements for participation in the reserve.

Simon estimates the changes would cost about $50 million, and believes the U.S. Department of Agriculture supports the idea.

"On the record, all I can say is I have discussed it with some people in authority," Simon told us.

"I think the Department of Agriculture would not be unhappy to see these changes made."

Bergland is taking some steps along these lines.

He announced this week that barley, oats and wheat can be placed directly in reserve. Previously, farmers wanting to store grain in the reserve needed to wait until a government loan on the crop matured.

Bergland also is changing the Farm Storage Facility Loan program so farmers can get loans for structures to store two years' crop production. And a farmers' existing reserve grain storage capacity will not be counted against him in determining eligibility.

In addition to taking those steps, Bergland is recommending that the president approve a nickel-a-bushel increase in the storage payments.

Bergland, however, has not indicated publicly if he supports waiving or reducing the interest charged to farmers on their loans for crops in reserves.

Simon said he does not consider his proposals a panacea for the problems of the farmers.

"I do not think it will satisfy many farmers, but it does meet both domestic and international needs," he said.

"We would be taking more of the surplus off the market here and putting more grain in storage for droughts here and abroad."

JAZZ MUSICIAN Maynard Ferguson who will be the star attraction at the 6th Annual Fine Arts Festival of Belleville Area College at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Ferguson to star in BAC music festival

Maynard Ferguson, jazz musician whose appeal has spanned the generation gap, will be the star attraction at Belleville Area College's 6th annual Fine Arts Festival.

Ferguson first came to fame in 1950 with the Stan Kenton Orchestra. A native of Canada, he had attended the French Conservatory of Music in Montreal, learning piano, violin, saxophone, and clarinet, and finally settling on the trumpet as his principal horn.

In 1948, he began working with various big bands in the United States—Boyd Raeburn, Jimmy Dorsey, Charlie Barnet, and most often remembered, Stan Kenton.

After working as first call trumpet man for Paramount Pictures for a while, Ferguson moved to New York to form his first American band, which spotlighted the talents of some of today's legends and stars of jazz: Slide Hampton, Lou Soloff, Bill Chase, Don Sebesky and Chick Corea, as well as others.

In 1967, feeling that there was little American market for the kind of music he was playing, Ferguson disbanded his group and then signed with Harold Davidson to tour England with a British band, "Top Brass."

That band recorded the album M. F. Horn which was so successful in America that it was inevitable that Ferguson would return to this country to resume his place as one of the greats of jazz.

Ferguson's time away from America gave him time to get out of the rut he had fallen into with the older audiences and to give the public, especially younger listeners, a chance to get ready for the music Maynard was making.

"I believe in change," Ferguson says. "I never try to recreate an image of yesterday especially in my music. Everything we play is new, with new rhythm and new experiments."

Ferguson credits much of his newfound popularity to young people. "The rock era has been around for quite a few years," he notes. "The kids are beginning to get tired of the same music. There is a new thrust for more diversity with the new generation and they're turning to our music to quench it."

Admission for the BAC Ferguson concert is $3 in advance—$4 at the door. Tickets are available at the Student Activities Office at 2500 Carlyle Road, the main Belleville Area College campus.

Propose campus listening service at GC high schools

The Quad-City Ministerial Association has submitted a proposal to the Granite City Board of Education to set up a Campus Listening Service at both South and North High Schools.

Included in the request were the objectives set down by the association — to help youth discover creative ways of communicating with God and friends; motivate youth to seek reality and affirm their identity; meet youth where they are through informal discussion (rap) sessions.

The Ministerial Association said it feels the youths of the community "have needs of identification, self-understanding, life style, of relationship with God and other persons, of a sounding board to release pressures in life situations."

According to tentative plans for the program, the Campus Listening Service would be provided a room in the school by the administration that would be easily accessible to the students.

The service would not recruit young people for this service nor for the various religious communities in Granite City, but it would be open to students on a voluntary basis.

The board members decided to refer the request to the Citizen Advisory Committee which will investigate the proposal and report to the board with a report.

Approval was given by the board to purchase doors and windows for the house now under construction by the students, from Illinois Lumber for $1,051; Duffin Lumber for $1,659 and O'Neil Lumber $475.

Plumbing supplies for the house will be purchased from Wickes Lumber, Kelly Plumbing and Crane for a total amount of $815, according to board members.

The board also agreed to have Prestige Printing Co., print Title I dissemination brochure and a brochure on off-campus vocational programs.

Use of facilities were granted to Eastern Illinois Symphony Band to use Memorial gym on Feb. 21, to present a concert; and to Masquers, Inc., to use the high school auditorium on March 12, for presentation of "Wizard of Oz."

The board accepted two gifts from the North Boosters Club which will provide sweat suits for the North Soccer team at a cost of $600, and a $100 gift to help defray the cost of Pep Club buses.

Also accepted were supplies in excess of $700 for the Vocational Electronic Lab donated by Townsend TV.

The Multiple Sclerosis Society requested the district to participate in its read-a-thon, whereby students read books and each of their sponsors contribute to the funds for each book read.

St. Louis Dairy Council also asked permission to offer a dental health program to third and fourth grade pupils called "Toothtown, U.S.A." A one-hour workshop will be offered on a volunteer basis to teachers of third and fourth grade students on March 9 from 3:30 to 4:40 p.m. at Frohardt School.

Both requests, on a volunteer basis, were approved by the board members. They also agreed to allow a poster contest sponsored by St. Elizabeth Hospital, to be offered to the elementary and junior high students during National Nutrition Week set for March 6-10.

Mrs. Victoria Siers, president of the String Orchestra Society, and four representatives of the group attended the board meeting to give a background of the organization. They also asked what plans the board has for the string program in the school district.

Builder '78 products fair

The Southern Illinois Builders Association will sponsor Products Fair '78, a construction materials and building equipment exhibition, in conjunction with the annual membership meeting on Thursday, Feb. 16, at the St. Clair Exhibition Hall, Route 13 and Route 159, Belleville.

It will be the second event of its kind to be sponsored by SIBA. A management seminar will be presented in the afternoon, followed by a dinner meeting and program in the evening. The management seminar, entitled "Economic Outlook For Southern Illinois in 1978," will feature a panel to outline the oncoming year of construction activity in Southern Illinois. Panel participants will be: Donald Duster, director, Illinois Department of Business & Economic Development; John Kramer, secretary, Department of Transportation; Donald S. Glickman, executive director, Illinois Capital Development Board; and Ted Schafers, business and financial editor, Globe Democrat.

The evening banquet program will contain a mixture of business and humor this year with Don Thoren, widely known for speaking, training and counseling activities, speaking on "Self-Fulfilling Prophecy." After the success of last year's program, which drew more than 500 people, the SIBA has worked hard to make this year's annual meeting and products fair both bigger and better.

More than 5,000 square feet of exhibits will feature the latest developments in products, equipment and services for the construction industry.

Displays and information will include: lift-up construction components; architectural woodwork; pre-engineered metal buildings; surveying and laser beam equipment; scaffolding; prefabricated mechanical and plumbing displays; folding partitions and architectural panels; solar heating and hotwater systems; carpets and various floor coverings.

Precast concrete culverts and manholes; construction educational material; lathing and plastering components; glass and aluminum products; park and playground equipment; overhead doors; portable power tools.

Wood roof and floor trusses; signs and traffic control devices; fire and safety equipment; blueprint microfilm service; banking services; portable building and prefabricated metal stairs; and many more products and services.

"An exhibit like this," said Leonard Boyer, director of industrial relations for SIBA, "is particularly because of the fact that it's limited to members of the construction industry, gives the professional construction person an opportunity to view these products away from the busy and often hectic surroundings of the office in an atmosphere of congeniality."

Those invited to participate in the event include general contractors who perform commercial building, heavy, highway, utilities and industrial construction; subcontractors; specialty contractors; architects; engineers; and representatives of government agencies involved in the construction process.

The exhibit will open at 3 p.m.

The afternoon program will commence at 5:30. There will be cocktails at 5:30 and dinner at 7 p.m.

The final exhibit session will be from 9 to 10:30 p.m.

Attendance is limited to individuals in the construction industry. Price of the program, including admission and dinner, is $12.

For further information, or reservations, Quad-Cityans may contact the SIBA office, 397-1400.

McKendree marks anniversary

McKendree College President Julian Murphy has declared a college holiday Monday, Feb. 20, to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the college's founding.

A Service of Thanksgiving will be celebrated at 10 a.m. that morning in Bothwell Chapel on campus. Participating will be Dr. Murphy; Dr. Leo Downey, vice president for Academic Affairs; Dr. Lawrence Bryan, assistant vice president for Academic Affairs and college chaplain, and the Rev. Donald Burroughs, minister of the First United Methodist Church of Lebanon.

Selected hymns will be sung by the McKendree College choir and Music Professor Glenn Preiner will serve as organist.

Following the Thanksgiving service, a traditional birthday party, with cake and ice cream, will be held in Circuit Riders Hall, on the main floor of the chapel.

Interested citizens and the entire college community have been invited to attend.

South takes District wrestling title

BARRY FORSHEE of South (bottom) gets set to take down Edwardsville's Vance Cole in their 126-pound match in the Edwardsville District tourney. Forshee won the bout.

EDWARDSVILLE—Going into the Edwardsville District Wrestling Tournament Thursday, Granite City South had never lost a district tourney... never.

Going into the district, North's powerful 112-pounder, Chris Whelan, hadn't lost a bout in the last 82 times he had taken to the mat, including a 32-0 record this season.

WHEN THE SMOKE had cleared here Saturday night, both records were intact. South's Warriors came away with their 21st straight district team title and Whelan easily routed all opponents enroute to the 112-pound championship.

South finished with 188 points. Roxana was second with a total of 160; points, a flat "No."

North's Steeler grapplers finished third with 87½ points. Collinsville finished fourth with 52 and Edwardsville was fifth with 44½ points. Alton (24½), Civic Memorial (Bethalto) (16), Wood River (13) and Highland (3) rounded out the team standings.

North's Gerald Miller finished second in the 98-pound class, losing the title bout to Roxana's David Miltello 11-1. Miller gained the right to the final bout by beating South Greg Garland 4-0 in the semifinals, and beating Kevin Kleeman 13-0 in the first round.

Garland came back to beat Alton's Mark Harpole 5-1 for third place.

Bob Kirgan of North took the title at 105 pounds, by beating Rocky Lupardus 6-2 in the title bout. Kirgan had earlier pinned

South Sectional starts Friday

Bethalto's Jim Kohlborn in the semifinals. Lupardus had beaten Roxana's Jeff Crockett 11-0.

WHELAN had very little trouble grabbing the title at 112 pounds. He pinned his first two opponents, Mike Stromski of Alton Thursday and Keith Hall of Roxana in the semifinals, before he was taken the distance by South's Scott Clement in the title bout. He beat Clement 14-4. Clement had also pinned his first two opponents, Steve Law of Highland in the first round and Brian Horvath in the semifinals.

Wally DeShon of South finished second in the 119 pound class, losing to Roxana's Mike Voorhees 8-2 in the title bout. DeShon had earlier waltzed through his first two opponents, pinning Bob Meiner of Highland in 5:12 of their first round bout, and beating Bethalto's John Torrey 12-0 in the semifinals.

South's Barry Forshee won the 126 pound class with a pin over Jim Spencer of Roxana in the title bout. Forshee had earlier pinned his semifinal opponent Jim Hausmann of Alton at 1:10 of their bout and had done the same thing in the identical time to his first round foe, Vance Cole of Edwardsville.

North's Kevin Shemwell took third place with a win over Hausmann, 6-2.

DEAN PERKINS of South took the title at 132 pounds with a thrilling overtime 10-9 win over Mitch Voorhees. Perkins had beaten North's Allen Kirgan in the semi finals, 4-3. Voorhees came back to beat Kirgan in a wrestle-back for second place.

Dean's brother, Sam Perkins won the title at 138 pounds with a win over Glen Exton of Roxana in their title bout. Perkins had beaten North's Greg Shemwell 7-0 in the semifinals. Shemwell lost the third place bout to Bill Eberts of Collinsville 5-0.

South notched another championship when Warrior Darrell Hasty beat Clay Bruessgeman of Roxana in their final bout. Hasty had earlier pinned North's Ray Stuart in the semifinals at 3:59 of their bout.

Stuart then beat Eric Benefiel of Wood River 21-2, beat Tom Harvengt of Collinsville 2-1 before losing to Bruessgeman for third place 3-2.

Mike Forshee of South finished second in the 115 pound division. He lost the championship bout to Kevin Bruessgeman of Roxana after beating Rod Jackson of Edwardsville 4-2 in the Warriors stomped by Kahoks; lose heartbreaker to Cahokia

By PETE HAYES
Press-Record Sports Editor
CAHOKIA—After Friday night's loss to Collinsville, Granite City South coach Don Deterding was able to accept it and walk away. But after Saturday's six-point heartbreaker to Cahokia, Deterding could hardly utter a sentence without choking.

The Warriors were dominated from opening tip off to final buzzer Friday night at home against Collinsville and were routed 82-43. Saturday night, South came up with a tremendous performance from center Terry Angle (30 points), overcame a seven-point deficit at halftime to lead after three quarters by six, but lost the game in the final two minutes to the Comanches 82-56.

Press-Record Sports

"It just wasn't fair to put Terry (Angle) in side there against Collinsville's big men," said Deterding about the Friday loss. "But what other choice did we have?"

"If we hadn't put him in there, we wouldn't have had any size inside at all."

It really didn't make any difference who Deterding put at any position against the Kahoks. Led by all-star Kevin Stallings' 25 points, Collinsville seemed at times lackluster in spite of running roughshod over South.

COLLINSVILLE completely dominated the boards — both offensive and defensive — and led by an amazing 30 points at halftime, 46-16... that's right, 16.

"It was kind of embarrassing to only have 16 points at halftime," said Deterding. "After all, I knew most of those Collinsville fans from when I grew up and played ball there. I don't know... they've just got a heck of a team. What else can I say?"

Deterding was an all-star for Collinsville in 1952. Not much else could be said except by Collinsville's legendary coach, Vergil Fletcher.

NOT KNOWN for his flashy statements to the media, Fletcher kept that reputation intact after the game. "I thought we were moving the ball a little better than we did last week against East St. Louis (a 79-76 loss for the Kahoks)," said Fletcher, obviously understating the fact. "South has a real fine team. They've had some close games against some teams that have given us trouble."

When asked if he ever considered taking it a little easy on Deterding, his old student, Fletcher uttered a flat "No."

CAHOKIA 62, South 56 SATURDAY, against Cahokia, Deterding found just about all the scoring punch he needed from Angle. The 6-4 senior scored 30 of the Warriors' 56 points, but fouled out with 1:02 remaining in the game and his team ahead by one point. As things turned out, South could well have used a few more points out of Angle.

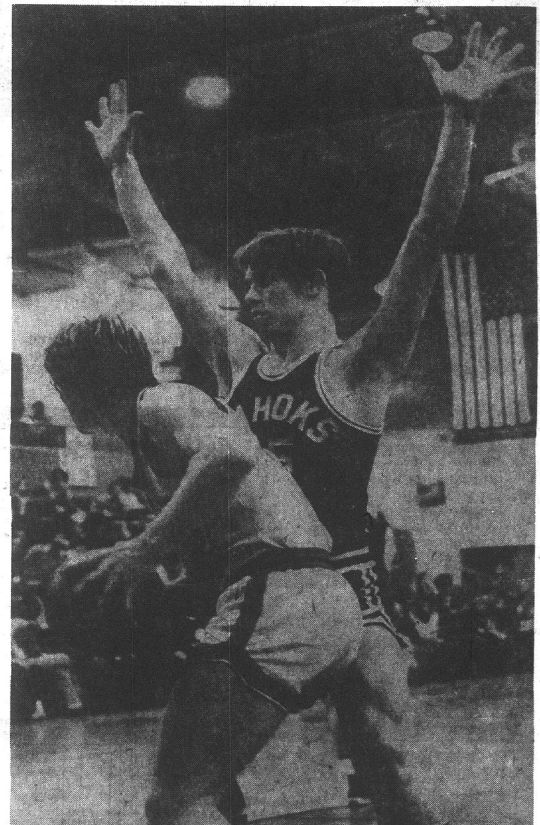

Angle and Cahokia's John Talbert were the story of the first quarter. Angle scored all nine of the Warriors' points and Talbert tallied 12 of Cahokia's 18 points of the period.

But that's where the similarities ended. While South continued to go to Angle for the baskets, Cahokia spread their offense around a little more in the second quarter and took a 30-23 lead at halftime. Angle had 17 of those South points.

In the third quarter, things could hardly have gone any better for the Warriors. They began controlling the boards, didn't give the Comanches any good percentage shots, and at the same time, made quite a few of their own.

They outscored Cahokia 20-7, not allowing them a field goal

EVER GET THAT 'HELPLESS' FEELING? South's Terry Angle (left) might just be going through that feeling as he is dwarfed here by Collinsville's John Belobradick in the Warriors' 82-43 loss to the Kahoks Friday night. Angle made up for it Saturday night, scoring 30 points against Cahokia.

King plays three minutes, fouls out

'Big O' too much for Trojans

MADISON'S JULIET STANLEY (54) seems to have encountered an obstacle in the form of Collinsville's Melinda Harper in the Lady Trojans' 80-43 loss Thursday night at Collinsville.

(Press-Record Photo)

CAIRO — At times during Madison's game Friday night at Cairo, Trojan Coach Larry Graham felt there might be some sort of a riot on the floor or in the stands... the enthusiasm was so high.

But as it turned out, the play of Cairo's "Big O," Otha Watkins, was enough of a riot for Madison.

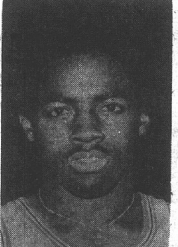

The 6-8, 300-pound center poured in 23 points — 19 in the second half on offensive rebound tips — and led his team to a 90-80 upset over the defending state champion Trojans.

"He's just awesome," said Graham. "I'd wager that all but maybe one or two of his baskets were on offensive tip-ins."

The points that Watkins didn't get, 6-2 guard Dennis Crumme did get. In fact, he got 25 all together.

THE TROJANS trailed at all three quarter stops, but did make things interesting in the third quarter.

Five times they managed to climb within a point of the Pilots, but everytime they did, either Watkins or Crumme would come back down the floor with a spectacular play or one sort or another to cushion the lead.

One such play came right at the end of the period. James Heard had just scored to bring Madison within six, 62-56. But Watkins came down the floor and scored two straight three-point plays to give the Pilots a 68-56 budge at the end of the period.

THREE-POINT PLAYS were something Cairo had an abundance of. Too many especially for Anthony King of Madison. He fouled out after having logged just over three minutes of playing time, thus severely damaging the Trojans' offensive thrust.

Madison had been able to creep back within three few times mainly due to their quickness which caused numerous Cairo turnovers.

"These kids didn't quit," said Graham. "It's just not in their nature to do that."

"I was real pleased with the way they kept their heads together. At times, things got pretty rough out there."

"We had pretty balanced scoring, I think that's a good thing," he added.

BUT GRAHAM had a hard time finding anything good to say beyond that about the game. "I don't go along with that old 'it's a blessing in disguise' theory," he said. "It's never good to lose."

Balanced scoring is something Madison may have had, but it looks better in the final score most of the time

"I guess the story of the game was offensive rebounding," said Graham. "They got them and we didn't."

Kristoff, Woods in SIUC Hall of Fame

Among 19 charter members along with former Saluki greats Hart and Frazier

CARBONDALE — Larry Kristoff, wrestling coach at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville since the sport was initiated on the new campus in 1971, was inducted into the first class to be honored at the Athletic Hall of Fame at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale Friday night.

Another SIUE staff member, George Woods, counselor in the Office of Admissions and Records and holder of the indoor world record in the shot put, was one of 19 former sports stars at SIU-Carbondale who were installed in the Salukis' Hall of Fame at a banquet at the Student Center. Former SIUC athletic stars who were present included Walt Frazier and Jim Hart.

Kristoff, who has put together a great wrestling program at SIUE-Edwardsville, was a renowned grappler in his undergraduate days at Carbondale. He won two college division championships and has won an unequalled 18 national championships, including AAU and National Wrestling Federation crowns. In addition, he has many achievements on the international level as well. In '63 he won the pre-Olympic Gold medal and placed in the Olympic Games of '64 and '68. He also finished second in three World Championship tournaments. And he won the Pan American Games title in his division.

The stars who were inducted into the Hall of Fame were:

William McAndrew, long-time athletic director and football coach; Leland (Doc) Lingie, track coach at SIUC for 33 years; and Walt Frazier, basketball star and Most Valuable Player on the Salukis' team which won the NIT tournament in 1967 at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Jim Hart, football standout and presently All-Pro quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals; Cecil Bass, the oldest known letterman in basketball and football; Frank Allen, six-letter winner in basketball. He was on the varsity two years while still in high school, and Kristoff.

Eugene Payton, the first black man to make the SIUC track team, started from 1935 through '38 in the 60 and 100 yard dashes; Raymond Floyd, football kicker who was one of the United States' best drop-kick artists, he still holds the Salukis' field goal record — an amazing 53 yards ... drop kicked; Virgil Wilson, who earned seven letters, four in basketball and three in tennis; Abe Martin, football coach and also baseball coach for 19 years. His basketball team of 1946 won the NAIA championship.

Clarence Stephens, who starred four years in football and was a key member of SIUC's only undefeated grid team, the 1930 edition; Lyn Holder, who won eight letters — four in football and four in basketball; Jim Lovin, who starred in football four years and is the only SIUC football player to have had his jersey retired. He starred from 1946 through 1949.

Marion Rushing, probably the school's greatest all-around athlete, who went on to star for the Chicago Cardinals. But in the years at SIUC, from 1956 through 1959, he lettered four years in football, three in basketball, two in track and two in wrestling; Carver Shannon, who won three letters in football and in track and was picked on the 1956 All-American football team. He starred in Canada in pro football before returning to play for the Los Angeles Rams; Chico Vaughn, the Tammis, Ill., contribution to SIUC sports, who holds SIUC's all-time basketball scoring record of 2,088 points.

Rusty Mitchell, 1964 U.S. Olympic Games gymnastic star who won NCAA tumbling events at SIUC '62 through '64; and Woods, presently on the staff at SIUE, the only Saluki athlete to win an Olympic Medal, a silver in the shotput in '68 and '72. He still holds the indoor world record in the shot put with a throw of 72 feet, two-and-three-quarter inches.

The Hall of Fame dinner will be held annually; the number of nominees, and the selections, however, will vary, according to SIUC spokesmen.

GEORGE WOODS, holder of the indoor shot put record and a counselor at SIUE at Edwardsville, was inducted in the SIUC Hall of Fame Friday. He is shown here with a silver-plated replica of the shot he used to break the world record.

LARRY KRISTOFF, former wrestling great at SIUC at Carbondale at present the wrestling coach at SIUE-Edwardsville, who was inducted into the SIUC Hall of Fame Friday night in Carbondale.

SIUE'S BOB WILBER

Del's kid

The true baseball fan is a man or a woman who loves the game. In the fall, but in most cases also has a special concern about various aspects of the sport.

For example, some fans concentrate on a hitter's swing. Others devote their time to how a runner prepares himself to steal a base. Perhaps the most knowing of all baseball fanatics are those who fasten their attention on the fielding ability of their favorites, whether in the infield or the outfield.

Bob Wilber, senior centerfielder for the Southern Illinois University Cougars at Edwardsville, is fast accumulating a fan club of his own for his brilliant feats as fielder for Coach Roy Lee's team.

Wilber's father is Del Wilber, a former catcher with the St. Louis Cardinals in the late 1950's and early 1960's. He now is the manager of the Spokane, Wash. Triple A farm club.

But Bob doesn't like to be thought of as just "Del's kid." He feels he should be known for his own abilities on the field.

Right now, Wilber's fielding skills would have to rank him among the best in the SIUE team. The Cougars' best all-time star man with the glove patrolling the vast spaces in centerfield.

Going into the 1978 season, it looks like it'll be Wilber in center field flanked by Don Eberlin in left and Bill Stille in right.

SIUE's Bob Wilber wants to be known for his own accomplishments

That's a "Terrific Trio," in the field, as well as in the bat.

Wilber was used sparingly by Coach Lee in center, not for his fielding, which was without fault. At first, his daring one-handed super-duper catches made some residents of the press box cringe, but last year he convinced most fans that his one-handed catches permitted him to get his throw to the bases and homeplate off much quicker.

Wilber began to make connection as he finished the regular SIUE season with a respectable .264 batting average after a dismal start.

Believe it or not, baseball isn't the only thing that occupies Wilber's time at SIUE. He also spends much of it in the Communications Building (he's a television-radio major) and working part-time on the staff of the Daily Alestie, the campus newspaper. But baseball is his first love.

A serious student of the game, young Wilber made a connection to play ball in the Central Illinois Collegiate League with the Danville Roosters last summer.

At Danville, Wilber hit a whopping .363 playing in rightfield and as a designated hitter.

As a member of the Roosters, young Wilber got some idea what it will be like if, after graduation and a successful season for himself and the Cougars, he is signed to play pro ball and assigned to a minor league club.

Says Wilber: "Some of the bus trips are tough, one round trip is over 450 miles, but it's also a lot of fun and the guys you play with are mostly top college stars."

The slender young outfielder is highly optimistic about the upcoming SIUE baseball season.

"Our infield and outfield, plus catching, is solid. If we can come up with just two more pitchers to go with Kent (Hendrickson), this could be our year to win it all up at Springfield," Bob predicts.

He means the NCAA Division II national championship being annually at Springfield, Ill., Lamphier Park. Every year since the Cougars have been eligible for post-season NCAA regional tournament, Lee has managed them to it. Three times they have made it to the finals: finished in 1972, second in 1975 and lost in two last spring in the double elimination meet.

With Wilber and his trusty glove in centerfield, the Cougars could do it. If he continues to hit like he did last summer up there in the collegiate league competition.

Devils drop two weekend games

ALTON—Ken Perkins wasn't a very happy man Saturday night. He wasn't very happy Friday night, either. His Venice Red Devils dropped two straight weekend games.

The Devils lost to powerful St. Louis Vashon 89-62 at home Friday and ventured to Alton where the Marquette squad gained 77-49 revenge for an earlier loss to the Devils.

"Vashon's just simply awesome," said Perkins. "They have great size (6-8, 6-7, 6-5 across the front line), and put it to good use."

The Devils were outclassed and never were in the game, trailing by as many as 30 points several times in the first half. Saturday was a different story, however. After spotting Marquette a 16 point lead in the first quarter, Venice made a run at them in the second half.

Several times the Devils pulled within two points late in the third quarter and early in the fourth, but Marquette's quickness and hot shooting wouldn't allow the Devils to come back.

"I thought Reggie Mathis was a real bright spot for us, in spite of losing both games," said Perkins. "He had a real good week all around. He was real crucial to our win over Gibault (Waterloo) Tuesday night."

The next game on the schedule could be a breather for the Devils, if there is such a thing for a 3-17 team. They host St. Henry Prep from Bellevue (6-18) tomorrow night. The junior varsity game is set for 6:30 while the varsity contest is slated for 8 p.m.

North bows to Notre Dame, Teutopolis

By DOUG IRVIN

On the heels of a heart-breaking 57-44 loss at Quincy Notre Dame Friday night, the GCHS North basketball team returned home to confront Teutopolis Saturday night and lost again, this time by 73-53.

Teutopolis may sound like a small town, but right now it's ranked fourth in the state in small schools, with Madison rated first.

There was nothing small about the size of the visiting athletes. The smallest player who started here for the Wooden Shoes was 6-3 in height.

"They are a good team. They shoot well," commented Steele Coach Bill Ohlendorf about Teutopolis' ball club.

Three players from North were in double figures, but Teutopolis had four players in that category.

"Brad Gauzen played a decent game," noted Coach Ohlendorf. He scored six points in the opening quarter, but unfortunately the Steelers did not score anything else in that quarter.

Teutopolis, after Gauzen scored first, hit seven baskets to lead 14-4 at the end of the first quarter.

Within eight seconds of the start of the second quarter, the 6-8 center of the Wooden Shoes, Dennis Funnamar, tallied a three-point play.

Gauzen scored four more points as his teammates made a total of six more. Teutopolis, playing an organized game, added 14 more points and at halftime the score was 31-16.

Gauzen got a later tip to Chappell. He passed it back to Gauzen, who scored from 15 feet out to bring North within 11.

At the 3:49 mark, North tried to rally. Eight baskets in the fourth quarter, but the Steelers' total of 20 points in the third quarter Teutopolis fought right back and remained on top, 33-36.

A total of 37 points was scored in the final quarter by both teams, with Teutopolis coming out on top 73-53.

Of North's 17 points, five were charity tosses. The Wooden Shoes scored on six free tosses and seven field goals to insure their victory.

Gauzen scored four more points to give him a game high total of 19. Funnamar, with 18 points, was high scorer for Teutopolis.

"Gauzen and Chappell played well," commented coach Ohlendorf.

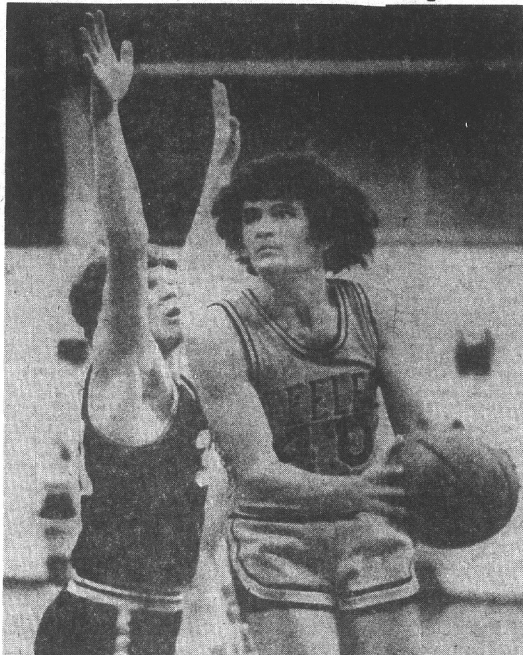

The scoring was balanced for North in its game at Quincy Notre Dame, and the Steelers held the upper hand until the final five minutes of the game. Their hot hands turned cold, and the hosts outscored them from the field in the late going to move ahead and win.

Next, North will play Belleville Altoft again tomorrow night for the third time this year.

GC stars top Venice, play Sunday in Madison as 2nd warmup for Big Red

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Press-Record Staff Writer

"They weren't as tough as they thought, even if they did bring in a couple of ringers, including a former all-state basketball player," Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffman) of the Granite City Police Department said Thursday night's warmup game between the All Stars and the Venice police officers, firemen and friends.

The Granite City All Stars won the closest contest 40-39, with Venice leading most of the way and losing a chance to pull it out by missing two free throws in the last 30 seconds.

The interdepartmental event was a prelude to the sixth annual Officer Friendly benefit basketball game, set for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 28, in Memorial Gymnasium at South High, featuring the Granite City Police-Firemen's All Stars against the Big Red All Stars of the St. Louis football Cardinals.

Immediately after Thursday night's warmup contest, Officer Hoffman said two Madison police officers, Detective Paul Bargiel and Patrolman Tom Voloski, called and challenged the Granite City team to a game at the Madison High school gym at 1 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 18.

"They promised to really give us a working over," Hoffman said. "We'll just wait and see how good they are," he added.

The public is being invited to view the Madison-Granite City police game Sunday without charge.

At Venice, the Granite City officers had a "balanced attack," which meant no one did too much.

About 60 persons on hand saw Venice move ahead, taking a 9-0 lead, with four minutes elapsed in the first quarter before Detective Roy Koberna broke the ice and scored for Granite City.

The Venice officers led all the way going into the final quarter, posting a 10-9 score at the end of the first quarter, 17-15 at halftime and 27-25 at the end of the third quarter.

Venice Patrolman Rod Bauer had two chances to tie it up with free throws, with 30 seconds remaining in the game, but missed both times, Officer Friendly said, smiling.

"As usual, they (Venice police) brought in a couple of 'ringers,' recruiting Cecil Bell, former University of Illinois basketball player and all-state Madison High School star, and the freshman-grade school basketball coach from Venice, Phil Daniels," Hoffman related.

Daniels also happens to be a Venice fireman.

Venice team members must not have felt too badly about the loss, as they hosted the Granite City officers for refreshments and a social hour in the Venice City Hall after the contest, Hoffman said.

Playing for Venice were James Bennett, Mark Koelker, Bruce Fletcher, Bauder and Tim Simmons, police department; David Levy and Daniels, fire department; and Cecil Bell of Madison.

The Granite City team members, all police officers, included Hoffman, Koberna, John Apperson, Don Knight, Rich Scharden, Roger Hayes, Dave Ruehlmann, Dave Rosenberg and Ken Crawford, Craig Nomm and Jim Reeder coached the Granite City team.

Tickets for the Officer Friendly benefit game Feb. 28, costing $2 each for one adult or two youngsters 12 years and under, now are available at Granite City police headquarters, all three fire stations in Granite City, and the Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, 3600 Nameoki Road, which co-sponsors the benefit game. Or, tickets may be purchased at the gate.

Cougars, Rusick gain tennis wins

Bill Rusick of Granite City won two of his singles matches for SIUE in the Eastern Kentucky invitational tournament held Friday through Sunday at Richmond, Ky.

SIUE won all of its meetings, the University of Kentucky won two out of three, Eastern Tennessee State captured one of three and Eastern Kentucky lost three times.

Thursday a bad day for Quad-Cities' girls cage teams

It was a bad day all around for Quad Cities girls basketball teams last Thursday.

Granite City North's Steelerettes suffered a 76-57 loss at Triad (St. Jacob-Troy-Marine). South's Warriorettes cagers suffered their second straight defeat, losing to Alton 86-46 and the Madison Trojannes were taken apart by Collinsville's Lady Kahoks 80-43.

In North's loss to Triad, Steelerettes Schofield led the Steelerettes with 29 points. However, her teammates couldn't put enough other tallies. North trailed at halftime 34-18, being outscored by Triad in the second quarter 24-5.

In the 195 pound class, South's couldn't top the 32 point outburst by Triad's Tina Berruette.

For South, Carla Knezevich put in 12 points and Mary Livingston added 10, but that was hardly enough to overcome the 34 Alton points put in by Edith Allensworth.

Madison was never in its game with Collinsville and lost their third game of the season, despite 14 points from Debra Baker.

MONTE CARLO STOLEN

A dark brown 1975 Chevrolet Monte Carlo stolen Monday night in the Granite City Army Installation bowling parking lot was stolen, it was reported at 10:45 p.m. Friday by the owner, Arville W. Sykes, who lives on the installation.

SIUE loses in tourney

The SIUE basketball team, now 9-12 after losing twice in the University of Missouri-Kansas City 3rd annual invitational tournament, spent Sunday afternoon watching the Kansas City Kings play the Cleveland Cavaliers at Kemper Stadium, Kansas City.

On Saturday night, coach Jim Dudley's Cougars saw a 35-32 halftime lead fade as the Marymount College Spartans poured in 49 second-half points to defeat SIUE, 81-68.

It was the Cougar's 7th straight loss, all but one on the road. Tonight, the Cougars take on the highly-ranked Rockhurst College Hawks, who are 17-7 for the season. The game will begin at 7:30 at the Rockhurst Fieldhouse, where the Hawks haven't lost in 28 games.

Their biggest victory there this season was over Drury College of Springfield, Mo., the NAIA number one team in the nation.

In the Cougars' battle for 3rd place honors, Marymount, SIUE led up until seven minutes remained in the game. At this point, Marymount's all-tournament guard, Jeff Kline, hit his seventh of tenth shots in the half, to put the Salina, Kan., five ahead 44-39.

Then tragedy struck for SIUE. The Cougars' Keil Peebles, bringing the ball down the court, drove for the basket but was crashed to the floor and injured his left ankle when seven minutes remained on the clock. He stayed in the game, but was hobbled.

About the only consolation the Cougars got out of the meeting was seeing Peebles picked unanimously on the all-tournament first team.

Next Saturday, the Cougars will travel to McDevree College (Lebanon) to take on the Bearcats, starting at 7:30.

semifinals. Bruggemann got to the finals by pinning North's Brian Cuvor at 1:12 of their semifinal match.

CUVAR had earlier beaten David Cannady of Wood River 10-6 in the first round. He then was pinned by Highland's James Hoyt in the lower's bracket.

South's Scott Polson finished second in the 167 pound class. He lost to Brad Vacca in the final bout, but had to come back and beat Bethalto's Otto Rice 6-4 in the wrestle-backs for second. Polson had earlier beaten North's Mitch Steen in the first round, and beaten Randy Howerton of Edwardsville on a referee's decision of their semifinal bout.

Steen came back to beat Howerton 6-4 in the loser's bracket before losing to Rice. In the 185 pound class, South's Mark Lemp finished second, losing in the last seconds to Roxana's Dave Dixon 7-6 in the title bout.

Lemp had drawn a bye in the first round. He pinned Nick Unangst of Edwardsville in the semifinals 1-32. North's entry at 185, Dave Morien, was beaten by Alton's John Almetier 4-1 in the first round.

IN THE UNLIMITED (heavyweight) division, South's Don King finished third, beating Mark Helle of Edwardsville in the third place title. King had earlier beaten Tom Banks of Alton 5-2 in the first round before losing to Tony LeVan of Wood River 8-7 in the semifinals. North's Tim Wyckoff lost to LeVan 6-8 in the first round and 9-3 to King in the loser's bracket.

Warriors

until 2:10 remained in the period.

"WE MOVED (Jeff) Parker to point-guard in the third quarter and gave us a little more thrust out front," explained Deterding.

But Deterding had a little more trouble than that explaining what happened to the Warriors in the final stanza.

The Warriors tried as they could to fight off Cahokia. They managed to out 2:10 remain in the game. Then Jim Neumann made a pair of free throws which put his team ahead for the first time since early in the third period, 51-50.

After a Frank Carella basket made it a three-point South deficit, the Warriors found themselves in the position of playing catch-up once more. They did catch up... but only briefly.

SOUTH'S TOM HEINRICH made a pair of free throws, 2:10 left to give South the lead, 54-53. Then Tom Mahl made two more charity tosses to increase that lead to three.

When Talbert hit one from 35 feet out, the Comanches had crept back to within one, 56-55. The Comanches scored their last five points on free throws, including a technical foul on Deterding, who became angered over a call late in the game.

"Oh, I guess you've got to give them credit for coming back like they did," said Deterding. "But you've got to give us credit too."

"Heck, I guess we played well enough to win and had enough to lose."

Venice teachers' institute Friday

Venice schools will be closed Friday for the annual institute day of Venice Community Unit School District 3.

The institute will be held from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville.

Youths charged

Three young men were arrested after police saw a car allegedly being driven in a reckless manner on ice in the northbound lanes in the 2700 block of Madison Avenue at 1:30 a.m. today.

Officers alleged the car was sliding broadside from one side to the other, keeping other cars from passing it. At one point the car slid around and started going southbound in the northbound lanes, and then turned around and continued northbound, officers said.

Police stopped the car on the National Food Store parking lot and charged the driver, Randy Reyes, 20, of 2332 Lincoln Ave., with reckless driving. They also discovered that the other two in the auto were out after curfew and charged Reyes with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A 16-year-old juvenile boy and Charles Bates, 17, also of 2332 Lincoln Ave., were charged with a curfew violation.

permitting school buses to operate.

Venice and Madison school officials said, however, that schools in those districts will close early today.

Madison was to close at the high school and elementary schools at 2 p.m. and at the junior high school at 3 p.m.

The office of Granite City School Superintendent B.J. Davis said classes are to operate in Granite City until the usual hour.

Venice schools also were to close at 2 p.m.

Temperatures hovering around 30 degrees alleviated the problem slightly as rain, drizzle and sleet began falling about 9 p.m. Sunday. The lowest temperature during the night was 29 degrees at 11 p.m.

Being caused by an inversion layer to break at 4 a.m. today, causing about 2,000 Illinois Power Co. customers to be without electricity for periods of two to three hours.

The ice broke transmission lines to two sub-stations.

Most of the area affected was in the northern part of Granite City and Pontoon Beach, with Venice, the southern part of Pontoon Beach affected.

According to an Illinois Power spokesman, most of the service was restored by 6:15 a.m. today, except for Archer Daniels Midland Processing plant, 3601 Carroll Road, and part of the Pontoon Beach area which power company representatives thought would be restored before 8 a.m. today.

Long Lake fire department emergency generators were turned on. These generators keep police in Pontoon Beach in radio contact with local state patrol cars and the fire department.

Overnight precipitation of 27 of an inch was recorded as of a.m. today at the Chain of Rocks locks which maintains weather records for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. It was the first rain or snow precipitation recorded during February.

The National Weather Service forecast rising wispy winds this evening, ranging from 15 to 25 miles per hour, which are expected to cause blowing and drifting snow.

Colder temperatures are predicted tonight with a low of 10 to 15 above zero. Continued snow flurries are forecast Tuesday with a high temperature in the low 20s. The weather service said more rain or snow is expected Friday, with a high of 35.

There were few storm-related accidents Sunday night or early this morning, but the storm was being responsible for keeping Granite City police busy checking out false alarms from business burglar alarms.

Officers responded to some alarms between 3:50 a.m. and 4:15 a.m. today, finding all of the buildings secure.

The former Madisonian was Bishop of Pittsburgh when elected, to replace Metropolitan Ireney.

He was appointed rector of the church in Madison when he was ordained a priest on Oct. 22, 1961.

He served the church in Madison for most of the 1960's during which time the new church structure was built.

Other Vladimir Locatelli, the current priest, was assigned to the Madison Church and Metropolitan Theodosius was summoned to New York to work in the Chancery where he was appointed chaplain to Metropolitan Ireney and later as secretary and assistant to the chancellor.

Liquor law

there is a need for longer opening hours.

"We particularly will look into the weekend closing hours for taverns to determine if an extension to a 2 a.m. closing on Saturday and a 3 a.m. closing on Sunday is needed or justified," Douglas said.

He said the Special Liquor License Committee also expects to determine if additional classifications for different types of liquor licenses are needed.

The present ordinance provides only for tavern retail licenses and package store licenses.

"We will try to obtain input in our study from citizens and tavern operators," Douglas said, noting that any person who has suggestions or comments on a revision of the liquor license law may submit them to any of the city's 14 aldermen who will turn them over to the committee.

With lower fares, bus usage growing

The Bi-State Development Agency's transit system has continued its rapid expansion during the past 12 months, according to a report submitted by Executive Director Barry M. Locke.

Last year, 67 million passenger trips were made on Bi-State buses, representing a 2.5 percent increase in ridership over calendar year 1976, and a substantial gain from the 52 million persons carried in 1974. Conservatively estimated, Bi-State buses, replacing thousands of private automobiles, saved more than 90 million gallons of gasoline last year in the St. Louis region, Locke said. At 60 cents per gallon, this represents a Bi-State-generated saving of $54 million for consumers.

The number of Bi-State bus routes rose from 141 in 1976 to 161 in 1977, and 382 new buses were added to the system's fleet, which now totals nearly 1,000 vehicles with an average age of three years.

Bi-State also completed construction in 1977 of the first 100 modern passenger shelters of a projected total of 1,200 planned by 1981.

The agency prepared proposals for a futuristic downtown people mover, for the expansion of reserved bus lanes within the city, and for several major urban construction projects, including renovation of three bus garages and a main shop facility.

The report attributes Bi-State's continued growth to its low transit fare structure, ongoing transit improvements, and major innovations in the delivery of its transit services.

Through prudent use of transit tax revenues appropriated to Bi-State by state and local-level governmental bodies, the basic fare has been reduced from 45 cents in 1973 to 25 cents today, one of the lowest in the nation.

Bi-State also provides substantially reduced fares for senior citizens, the handicapped, and students.

One of Bi-State's most visible improvements in downtown St. Louis, the two-route "Scooter" operation, carried 900 people during the noon period each weekday in the central business district.

Other transit improvements within the city have included expanded use of reserved lanes for Bi-State buses along the busy Olive-Lindell corridor, coupled with special parking restrictions to facilitate rush-hour bus travel downtown on Olive and Locust streets.

Of Bi-State's 161 bus routes, 94 are operated wholly within the city of St. Louis or between the city and St. Louis County. These lines carried 200,000 passengers every weekday in 1977, with the Grand and Kingshighway routes leading in patronage, transporting a daily average of 16,000 and 13,000 persons, respectively.

To better serve the many elderly or handicapped persons, Bi-State introduced 157 fully accessible buses (equipped with wheelchair lifts) in regular service on a total of 22 routes. All 382 new buses received by the agency are equipped with a special "kneeling" feature for easier boarding.

Bi-State maintained a special direct telephone line for information on the new wheelchair service and eligibility requirements for reduced-fare identification cards which permit senior citizens and the handicapped to ride for a little as 10 cents.

A new program which would enable the handicapped to dial a special number for door-to-door bus service has also been discussed.

The agency will renovate three of its bus garages and the main repair shop on Park Avenue in St. Louis.

Additional passenger shelters will be constructed and plans to restore a building in historic Laclede's Landing as the new Bi-State headquarters are progressing into the design stage.

Together, these projects will cost an estimated $36.2 million between now and 1982.

In 1978, Bi-State plans to continue service improvements in accordance with various study recommendations, maintaining service frequency on heavily-traveled lines which far exceeds national averages, and expanding service on 19 routes in the city and 17 others operating in both the city and the county.

Mimers to tour schools

The Mimer's tour group from Granite City High School North will visit three junior high schools and a parochial school on Thursday, performing at 8:45 a.m. at Grigby, 9:45 a.m. at Coolidge, 10:45 a.m. at Prattler and at 1 p.m. at St. Elizabeth.

Purpose of the tour is to acquaint junior high students with various pantomime and skit forms, and to introduce them to one of the many speech activities at North.

The Mime acts include, "Mime Mirror Dance, One," "Satire on Television Commercials," "Gross Encounters," a dance routine "We Go Together," "Driving Hazards," "Raggy Ann," and "The Necessary Paper."

A distinctive feature of the Mimers is their costumes. The modified teenage garb includes colorful overalls, brightly designed shirts, various distinctive hats, sneakers and multi-colored socks.

Purpose of the costume is to convey a universal youthful spirit and the joyous mood is further shown through creative use of clown-like white make-up, highlighted by use of color, instructors explained.

The theme of the performances is to exemplify the exuberance of life experienced by young people today, according to Dr. Gorie Michaeloff, chairman of the speech department at North.

This is the second year of Mimer's Tour of junior high school and is a new activity in the Advanced Speech Department.

SIUE units plan concert

A concert featuring the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Symphonic Band, Wind Ensemble and Concert Choral will be held at St. Paul's Catholic Church, 1412 Chisholm St., Highland, at 8:15 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 19.

Carl St. Clair, director of bands at SIUE, will conduct the forty-six member Symphonic Band. The 64-voice Concert Choral will be under the direction of Dr. Leonard Van Camp, director of choral activities at SIUE. The Choral, a select group of singers chosen by audition, took first place in 1974 at the International Choral Competition in Spittal, Austria.

Preceding the concert at 7:45 p.m. will be James Parisi, a four-year music performance major at SIUE, in a concert of organ music. The AGO 1977 winner of the student competition in St. Louis will include selections by Bach, Pachelbel, Langlais and Vierne. He will tour Europe with the Concert Choral this summer and plans thereafter to continue his studies in England.

Dr. Van Camp, in his 15th year on the faculty at SIUE, is a frequent guest conductor of Festival choruses and All-State Choirs, and the International High School Choir at Interlochen, Mich., and has been featured on divisional and national conventions of both ACDA and MENC.

St. Clair, formerly teacher and conductor at the University of Texas in Austin, has served frequently as guest conductor and clinician.

A sampling of some of the numbers to be performed include: Wind Ensemble and Choral, Funeral Hymn, Brahms; Prayer of St. Francis, Leonard Van Camp.

Symphonic Band, March from Symphonic Metamorphosis, Paul Hindemith; Trauersinfonie, Richard Wagner.

Band and Choral, Symphonic Preamble of Triumphal Ill. Apollonius, Hector Berlioz.

Party to honor Wolf March 6

Al Froemling, treasurer of the Citizens for Sam Wolf Committee, has announced that a Salute to Sam Wolf cocktail party will be held in his behalf on Monday, March 6, between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Nameoki Road.

Tickets for the event may be obtained by calling 878-3800 or by mailing requests to Al Froemling, treasurer, Citizens for Sam Wolf Committee, 3600 Nameoki Road, Granite City, Ill.

Wolf, a local resident and realtor is a former state representative and presently a candidate for that office in the 6th District in the primary election March 21. Wolf at the present time also serves as a legislative assistant to the secretary of state's office.

Local and state officials already have indicated they will attend the event together with friends and political acquaintances from the two-county area.

Cocktails and Hors D'oeuvres will be served.

Sr. citizen dinner and theater outing

The Tri-City Area YMCA will sponsor a one-day bus trip for senior citizens to the Goldenrod Showboat for dinner and theater Sunday, Feb. 26, from 11:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The Goldenrod Showboat festivities will include a buffet style lunch at 12:30, oldtime movies after lunch, showtime at 3; and an "old vaudeville" show at 5.

The feature attraction will be "The Royal Slave" stage presentation at 3.

The trip is available to all Quad-City senior citizens, with the bus and tickets provided by the YMCA. Interested individuals may register starting at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 14, for the price of the buffet meal of $3.60.

The YMCA will provide two buses totaling 90 passengers and will fill these buses on a first-come, first-serve basis.

"Join in the midwinter festivities and register early at the RSVP office located at the 20th Street entrance of the YMCA. For additional information, call RSVP at 876-3223 or the YMCA at 876-7200," YMCA Executive Director Paul L. Grennell commented.

Meet on production of car license plates

The vice-chairman, Senator Sam Vadalabene, and a member, Representative Joe Luco, of the Illinois Motor Vehicle Laws Commission have announced there will be a public meeting of the commission Thursday, Feb. 22, at 10 a.m. in Room 2000, State of Illinois Building, 160 N. LaSalle, Chicago.

Purpose of this meeting will be to explore the different alternatives available for the purchasing and manufacturing of license plates in Illinois.

According to Sen. Vadalabene, "Our commission is vitally concerned over the fact that a contract for approximately $10 million was let to the Texas prison system for the manufacturing of our license plates this year."

"Because of Illinois' law and bidding procedures, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon, was not provided sufficient latitude to pursue the most attractive bid."

Rep. Luco added, "The commission will be reviewing the feasibility of our correctional institutions manufacturing these plates, and studying why an Illinois-based manufacturing firm has not been awarded this contract since 1972."

"If it is not practical for these plates to be manufactured in our own institutions, then it would appear that we should at least attempt to facilitate the awarding of this contract to an Illinois-based industry."

Credit union assets rise $1.5 million

The Granite City Steel Employees Federal Credit Union has reported total assets of $15,814,247, a gain of over a $1.5 million for the year ending Dec. 31, 1977.

The financial report was given at the credit union's 36th annual meeting, attended by 1,500 persons. CU president Alex Skubish presided.

Also at the meeting, five directors were chosen from among nine candidates. Re-elected were Elwood Milton, Christ Amisch, Bill Heath, Bill Webb and George L. Grimm. They will serve along with six holdover directors: Alex Skubish, Leo Six, George E. Grimm, Charlie King, Bob Kelly and Russell Robinson.

Re-elected to the Credit Committee was Al Barnes, who will serve with hold-overs Earl Baker and Gerry Griffith.

The credit union loaned a total of $8,019,868 in 1977. Dividends paid to members in 1977 amounted to $754,484, and an interest rebate on loans totaled $86,000.

There are more than 7,700 GCS Credit Union members.

The credit union has 10 employees, with Joe Lucido serving as manager and assistant treasurer, and Jerry Pakovich as office manager. The offices are located at 1517 20th Street, Granite City.

Coagulation study funded

To investigate the biosynthesis of the protein, prothrombin, involved in the process of blood coagulation, the National Institutes of Health have renewed a three-year research grant for $150,000 to Theodore W. Munn, Ph.D., assistant research professor, Edward A. Doisy Department of Biochemistry, St. Louis University School of Medicine.

Since the amount of prothrombin in blood can dictate the rate of coagulation by the administration of a variety of compounds, including vitamin K. He is using laboratory-grown rat liver cells as animal models in the research investigation.

Dr. Munn's research investigation may provide scientists with the molecular basis by which certain compounds and drugs exert their effects to regulate the biosynthesis of prothrombin in living organisms.

Candidates relate qualifications, tell why they should be elected

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Candidates for county offices "stuck to the basics" during their talks before the Granite City Democratic Club last week, limiting their remarks to their backgrounds, qualifications and goals.

Candidates for sheriff, county treasurer, county clerk and county school superintendent addressed the gathering of about 125 persons at the Knights of Columbus Hall in the first of the club's two candidates nights.

Next month, the club has invited candidates for circuit court judge, Madison County Board, and state senator and representative to address the members and guests.

Club President Von Dee Cruse welcomed everyone to the meeting and recognized numerous officials and candidates in the audience.

Jim Augustine of Livingston, candidate for the county treasurer post from which George Munro is retiring, told the club he has proven his leadership ability in many ways, including coaching the Livingston High School baseball team. Augustine said he has "the interest, desire and qualifications" for the treasurer's job.

His opponent, Michael Henkhaus of Bethalto, arrived late due to other campaign commitments, but was able to greet most of the club members after the meeting adjourned. James Estes of Mitchell was the first sheriff candidate to speak. Estes said he has served in every capacity to which deputies can be assigned in the sheriff's department and feels he is well qualified to be elected sheriff.

He also cited his military background as a Marine and noted he was with President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he died.

Emil Toffant of Madison was the second sheriff's candidate to speak and he reviewed his career with the Madison Police Department, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Illinois State Police, rising to the post of commander of District 11 at Maryville.

He cited numerous jobs and achievements as an FBI agent and state policeman, including setting up the state police's first detective section.

He also said he was entrusted to organize and coordinate security for the priceless papers of Abraham Lincoln at the New York World's Fair.

Toffant said he helped form the St. Clair County Merit Commission and has received 42 commendations during his career, including one from a U.S. president and one from former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Donald Vaughn of Granite City told the audience of his background in pharmacy and his education and said, "I think I know how to administer and how to lead people and I do think that if I am given the (sheriff) job, I will do a good job."

Sheriff candidate Michael Vincent of Granite City noted he has served eight years in the sheriff's department. "I've been there and I know what it's like," he said as sheriff, he would have three major objectives. The first would be to raise morale, which is low. The second would be to increase the number of deputies on patrol from 44 to 60 by using 16 persons now assigned to desk jobs as deputies in the field.

Vincent's third objective would be to establish a crime prevention bureau to educate the public in ways to prevent crime by better securing their homes and taking other precautionary measures.

Edward Voumard of Alton was the final sheriff's candidate to speak and said fighting crime "has been my hobby, my profession and my challenge." Voumard said he has been working hard on the board of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to curb crime and feels he can do a good job as sheriff.

He also said better cooperation between the sheriff's department and local police departments under mutual aid pacts would be beneficial to all residents of the county.

"Cooperation with other police, with the judges and the state's attorney, cooperation with the County Board and with Civil Defense can make your county a safer place to live and work."

He also said that, under his guidance, the message would be that "the criminal is not safe in Madison County. I intend to organize a hard-hitting crime-fighting department."

Incumbent Regional Superintendent of Schools Harold E. "Gene" Briggs, who is seeking re-election, told the club that his office has made four great strides during his four years of leadership, including starting several new programs which have become state standards.

"We have instituted over 50 new programs or services without increasing our staff or going out of our budget, which is very difficult in these days of higher costs. Our intention is to keep improving and expanding services," Briggs stated.

His opponent, Vasil Eftimoff of Granite City, reviewed his background in education, rising from teacher to principal and to his current position as administrative assistant for pupil personnel services in the Granite City public schools.

Eftimoff also noted he is a hearing officer and child advocate officer for the state of Illinois. As regional school superintendent, he would stress four programs.

One would be to expand alternative education facilities, such as Coordinated Youth Services. Community through cooperation of the schools, park districts and other tax-supported organizations would be another goal, Eftimoff said. "I believe every public building should be open to the public until 10 p.m.," he stated.

Eftimoff's third program would be to urge free school lunches for all children, not just the economically depressed. He said the 40 to 50 cents per day parents pay for school lunches represents "an extra tax" they pay.

Finally, he said he would urge the state to award scholarships to all students finishing in the top five percent of their classes to the college of his choice.

He said scholarships to encourage students to achieve would be less expensive, in the long run, than the cost of housing non-achieving youths in jails and prisons.

Evelyn Bowles, who is unopposed for re-election to county clerk, said she feels being unopposed is an honor and a vote of confidence, but requested that the Democrats remain strong behind her. She noted that among her office's achievements in her last term was the computerization of all voter registration records to make them more available to both political parties for their campaigns.

Club President Von Dee Cruse congratulated the candidates on their talks limited to why they feel people should vote for them and avoiding attacks on each other. "Although we may oppose each other for the primary election, we will all be Democrats together behind the same people in the general election. That is what democracy is all about."

During a business session of the club prior to the candidate talks, club members voted on a suggestion to change the club's name to the Granite City Area Democratic Club to indicate service to a broader area than just the city.

The change of name received a narrow majority of the votes cast, but was declared defeated, since by-laws require a two-thirds vote.

The club applauded Mrs. Norma Mendoza for receiving the Alice Paul Award from the National Organization for Women.

She was among 10 women chosen for the honor from among over 200 who were nominated for the honor. The award was presented by NOW National President Eleanor Smeal of Pittsburgh during a meeting last week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The Alice Paul Award is named after a famous figure in the original equal rights amendment in 1923.

Other local winners were Barbara Harris of Granite City, Judy (Graham) McNeilly, and Elizabeth Neeley, all workers in the Rape Crisis Center at SIUE. Elizabeth Neeley also is a full-time worker for the ERA lobby.

Mayors council meets Feb. 22

Dale R. Sherrard of the Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors on Wednesday, Feb. 22.

The meeting will be hosted by Belleville Mayor Charles Nichols at the Bel-Air Bowl, 1703 North Bell West, Belleville. A hospitality hour will begin at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 7 p.m. and the meeting at 8 p.m.

Future Secretaries compete in contests

A talent contest for members of the Granite City Chapter of the Future Secretaries Association, was the highlight of a meeting held last week at South High School, conducted by Lisa Crippen, president.

Each member selected a category and competed with others for the top trophy presented to the first place winners.

Rena Hill captured first in the baking contest, Gail Spilole placed second and Sharon Sackett, third. In the typing competition Renee Sharp won first place, Darlene Arakaki, second, and Becky Spurling, third.

Selected as first place winner in the fashion segment was Lydia Crews, Susan Fench, second and Kathy Antoft, third. Theresa Hayes excelled in the spelling category with Lori Pendegras placing second and Liz Rogenski, third.

Talent winners included Linda Lowell, first with ceramics, Carrie Caton, second, charcoal drawing and Jackey Chapline was third with a tap dance routine.

Miss Crippen announced the next meeting will be held at North High School on March 6, at 7 p.m. featuring a secretaries panel. Also attending will be three National Secretary Association representatives from the Tri-City Chapter, Mrs. Charles Vunovic, Becky Baisson and Nancy Bezan.

Lake PTA plans chili supper

The executive board of the Lake School Parent-Teacher Association met last week to discuss final plans for a chili supper to be held on Friday, Feb. 17, in the school cafeteria between the hours of 5 and 8 p.m.

Mrs. Carla Greco and Mrs. Phyllis Warford, co-chairmen of the event, indicated that the meal will include a bowl of chili, a hot dog, a piece of cake, and coffee or a soft drink. Tickets may be purchased from board members in advance or at the door. The cost will be $1.75 for adults and $1 for children, age 12 and under. Carry-outs will also be available.

Mrs. Brenda Withers announced that she will conduct a tee-shirt sale for the PTA the end of February. The shirts will cost $4 for both youth and adult sizes. They will be a blend of polyester and cotton and will be available in red only.

The PTA-sponsored CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) class which was scheduled for Jan. 16, was cancelled because of the snowstorm and will be rescheduled for April. This class will be for board members and teachers only, since the class is limited to 24 participants; however, if there is enough interest shown, another class will be scheduled for the general membership.

This will be conducted by volunteer firemen of the Long Lake Fire Department.

David Johnson, president, pointed out that a film will be shown at the next PTA meeting on February 21, on the subject of death and how it should be handled with children. It is a film which can be viewed by children, as well as adults, and is entitled, "A Taste of Blackberries". Randall Irwin, local funeral director and husband of Lake's second-grade teacher, Mrs. Linda Irwin, will show the film and will be available for a question-and-answer period following its showing.

Others attending the board meeting other than those mentioned were Edward Zompa, Mrs. Kathy Lane, Mrs. Linda Schmitt, Mrs. Faye Hester, and Pat Withers.

Delray Lodge installs

Mrs. Betty Applegate was installed as Noble Grand of Delray Rebekah Lodge 786, in a public installation ceremony conducted at the Odd Fellows Hall in Madison.

Others who were installed with Mrs. Applegate include Hazel Wheeler, vice-grand; Lucille Vesch, recording secretary; Betty Barnett, financial secretary; Edith Carpenter, treasurer.

Escorts, Kathie Applegate, Linda Butts, Loretta Robertson and Dorothy Bertram, were dressed in yellow and each carried a red rose bouquet.

As the elected officers took their obligation, the deputy chaplain, Zelma Finch carried the Bible escorted by Shannon Applegate and Tiffany Bax. Soloist Louise Lewis, accompanied by Agnes Meng, sang "On the Arms of a Snow White Dove" to Mrs. Applegate and sang "Memories" to Mrs. Pearl Woods, junior past grand.

During the ceremony, the song, "It Is No Secret" was sung to Mrs. Wheeler and she was presented with a corsage from Pearl Woods. At the conclusion of the installation the soloist sang "Together" as the appointed officers were seated at their stations.

Gifts were also presented to the retiring noble grand officer, Mrs. Pearl Wood by Zelma Finch.

The hall was decorated by Emily Alford and her committee in a burgundy and yellow color theme with an arch at the noble grand office station festooned with matching flowers.

Cheryl Finch presented each one present with a program and also presided over the guest book. Candlelighters were Dottie Smith and Tracy Windland. Mrs. Lucille Vesch gave the invocation.

Installing officers were Daisy Burnett, district deputy president, and Edith Carpenter, Leana Rodgers, Elsie Vance, Verna Willman, Virginia Burris, Zelma Finch and Opal Voss.

Refreshments were served by Thelma Stockton, Loretta Robinson, Linda Butts, Verna Williams to approximately 75 guests.

Zelma Finch was appointed degree captain and Thelma Stockton as publicity chairman.

Madison Senior Citizens select Valentine Queen

The Madison Senior Citizen Club selected Mrs. Mattie Walker, an 84-year-old resident of Madison, to reign as queen at the club's Valentine dinner, dance held Thursday evening at the Madison Recreation Center.

Mrs. Walker was ceremoniously escorted to the main table by club trustees, Ignace Weiss, Frank Shifter and Matthew Blattner.

Officiating at the crowning was Mrs. Sue Blattner who presented the honoree with a tiara to wear during the evening and a corsage of white carnations intermingled with tiny red Valentine hearts. The floral arrangement was provided by Goff and Dittman Florists.

Mrs. Walker presided at the main table for the remainder of the evening, and received felicitations from approximately 150 guests.

The Madison Senior Citizen Kitchen Band entertained following the dinner, which was catered by Voloski Catering Co.

Music for dancing was furnished by Duke Dudley Band. Special guests attending were Madison Mayor Mike Sasak, Madison Chief of Police Donald Bridick and Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Dymus.

Arrangements for the annual Valentine affair were completed under the direction of Mrs. Sue Blattner and decorations in keeping with the theme were created by Mrs. Mildred Shifter.

Methodists mark week of prayer

The United Methodist Women of Niedringhaus Methodist Church met Thursday in Wesley Hall to observe the "Week of Prayer and Self Denial."

Elmer Lerch and Mary Roulund greeted members as they arrived.

Shirley Lane introduced the program which consisted of three parts, "God Be Our Vision," "God Be Our Wisdom," a time for proclamation, "God Be Our Victory," a time for dedication of self.

The group discussed various ways of serving as individuals and as a local church unit. Also taking part in the program were Wanda Groothuis, Betty Williams, Carol Farnsworth, Edna Stich, Elizabeth Briggs. Maxene Hacke accompanied the group for the singing of several hymns.

Members presented a special offering to be used for "Children and Youth in Today's World" and "Maintenance and Improvements in Mission Institutions."

Dolores Allen, president, conducted the business meeting and opened by presenting Janet Wilson with the past presidents pin of United Methodist Women for her service over the past two years. It was announced that the annual bazaar would take place Friday, Nov. 10 in Wesley Hall.

All members were urged to plan for a shower for the layette program of United Church Women at the March 3 general meeting. Friday, March 3, was announced as the date for World Day of Prayer of United Church Women to be held at the Madison Presbyterian Church.

Refreshments of brown bread, cheese and fruit were served to 30 members at candlelight tables holding open Bibles.

Hostesses for the evening were members of Loyalty Circle, Virginia Wolfe, leader and Truth Circle, Shirley Lane leader.

Church Women representatives convene

The first Church Women United's representatives' luncheon was held last week at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, with the Rev. William Mathias offering the opening prayer.

More than 40 women representing churches in the Quad-City area attended, according to Ellen Wilson and Pat McAmish, luncheon chairmen.

Following the luncheon theme, "Bread for World Hunger," a major project of CWU, Mrs. Nona Corzilius, Legislative Concerns chairman, gave information concerning the project.

Mrs. Corzilius said, "One of our chief aims is to bring our awareness to the public, as well as to our government, that we must support human rights. One of these basic rights is the opportunity for all peoples of the world to have enough food on which to function properly."

Mrs. Marion Pierson, CWU president, announced World Day of Prayer for March 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Madison Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Betty Bryant, chairman of the program, said a baby-sitting service will be furnished.

Mark St. Ivary, coordinator of "Special Olympics for the Handicapped" in the Quad-cities, presented a movie on the program. He also detailed responsibility of the Church Women's group for feeding and serving more than 1,100 participants and volunteers.

Bay View hears Mrs. Arnovitz

"Letters to My Family" written by Lillian Carter and her daughter Gloria Spann, was the program topic presented by Mrs. Margaret Arnovitz at a meeting Thursday of Bay View Reading Club.

Miss Hazel Towery, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker at the meeting held at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ.

The president, Mrs. Bette Rea, presided at the business session.

During the meeting Mrs. Helen Krumsiek gave a memorial in honor of the late Mrs. Gladys Chapman. She wrote by Mrs. Chapman and published under the name of "Deep in The Hollow."

Mrs. Dorothy McCauley suggested the club purchase an appropriate book in honor of the late Mrs. Chapman, and present it to the local library.

Fifteen members attended the meeting and social hour hosted by Mrs. Ralph Frohardt, who used a Valentine theme for the table appointments and dessert course.

Others present were Dorothy Buente, Lily Dod, Ruth Huxel, Ertha Johnson, Marie Klein, Bess Louis, Mary Frances Lynch, Fauleta Mueller and Verna Stuart.

Local church to hear Bill Wagner

The Community Heights Assembly of God Church located at Faith and Buxton avenues, will have as their special guest on Feb. 14-15th, singer, song writer, and publisher, Bill Wagner.

This will be Bill Wagner's second invitation to minister in song in the Community Heights Church, according to Rev. Jeffrey Smith, pastor.

Wagner has sung professionally with several famous groups but now has committed himself to being a full time gospel singing evangelist, performing for all denominations throughout the country.

Services on Tuesday and Wednesday evening will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend this presentation of the gospel in song, Rev. Smith added.

Nu Zeta makes plans for dance

The annual Valentine's Day dance of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, scheduled at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Granite City Elks Club, was the principal topic of discussion at last week's meeting of Nu Zeta Chapter.

Members were entertained at the home of Cheryl Barton, 2812 Saratoga Ave. Carol Moerlein, president, was in charge of the business meeting.

Nu Zeta members are planning to decorate the Elks Lodge the morning of the dance and entertain their husbands at dinner at Rousto's Restaurant in Collinsville later the same day.

Saturday's dance is open to the public. Tickets purchased in advance from sorority members cost $2.50 each, while $3 will be charged at the door, Mrs. Moerlein said.

Music for dancing will be provided by "The Seasons."

At the chapter meeting, a program "Friendship" was presented and a St. Valentine's Day cake was served by the hostess in the social hour.

Others present were Debbie Brown, Marcie Johnson, Betty Thomas and Leona Mack, who will host the Chapter Feb. 21.

Signing of sewer easements at Nameoki Township office

About 178 Nameoki Township property owners who have not yet signed sewer installation easements are being notified through letters from supervisor Harold W. Davis that they may do so at the town hall.

Hours at 4250 Highway 162 are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, and on Feb. 24 the hours will be extended to 8 p.m.

A major sanitary sewer program has been upheld by Illinois courts.

Text of the letter from Davis follows:

"A lawsuit has been dismissed by the Illinois Supreme Court which challenged the legality of the method proposed by the Madison County Board Sewer Committee for the installation of sanitary sewers in a special service district which includes portions of Nameoki Township.

"An attempt was previously made by the County Board Committee to obtain easements from the property owners where these sewers were to be installed, but at that time some of the property owners did not choose to grant an easement.

"The Madison County Board Committee has requested that the township supervisor contact these property owners again requesting them to grant an easement.

"I have been informed that your easement is still needed, which is the reason for sending this request to you.

"They inform that an answer to this request should be obtained as soon as possible, since they are working within time limitations and it will be necessary to order to implement this program.

"If you wish to grant your easement, you may do so at the Nameoki Township Office, 4250 Highway 162, Granite City.

"The hours will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"During the week of Feb. 21 through 24, these hours will be extended to 8 p.m.

"Any additional information concerning this project may be directed to the Madison County Board Members on the Sewer Committee. They are Louis Whitsell, Homer Boothman, Arthur Moore, Nelson Hagnauer or Walter Sparks, chairman."

South High students visit art museum

Granite City High School South's art appreciation class toured the newly-renovated St. Louis Art Museum, in an excursion designed to provide the students an opportunity to view works of art which they have studied in classrooms.

Mrs. Phyllis Weiss, instructor, said the 35 students attending were given maps and assignments to find specific easements and paintings. They were very impressed with the fine St. Louis fine collection, and for some it was their first experience visiting an art museum, she said.

After studying the artists on slides, in movies and books, the students could not believe they were actually viewing the real thing, Mrs. Weiss noted.

Many students felt that seeing the artist's work changed their opinion. Phil James, a student, said he had not cared for the impressionists when studying them in class, but after seeing the work he understood why so many people found this period of painters to be their favorite, Mrs. Weiss added.

The students all agreed the trip was a worth-while learning adventure and they now enjoyed and appreciated fine art. Many students said they would be making more trips on their own and would bring friends and family to enhance their lives through art.

"That is what the class is all about and I think we have succeeded. Many people dislike art because they know very little about it. People dislike anything that is mysterious, foreign or unfamiliar to them. There are rules and regulations in the world of art just as in football, literature or music.

"Art always reflects the society that produces it and to understand the cultures and history of man is to understand and appreciate art. In a society that is as complicated and frustrating as ours, a visit to the museum is a banquet feast for the eye and a welcome relief to life's pressures. I only wish everyone could enjoy this pleasure," said Mrs. Weiss.

Rains promoted at Chrysler-Plymouth

The board of directors of Granite Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., 19th Street and Grand Avenue, today announced the promotion of Steven E. Rains to vice-president of the corporation.

Mr. Rains, 29, has been serving as general manager of the company for the past four years prior to his appointment to the previously unfilled position.

He holds an engineering degree from the University of Missouri at Rolla and resides at 3004 Mockingbird Lane with his wife Brenda and three daughters.

Other officers reappointed at the board meeting were Harold (Mat) Matson, president, and Earl T. Glenn, secretary-treasurer.

SIU Chairman Rowe, Secretary Margaret Blackshere re-elected

Harris Rowe of Jacksonville was re-elected as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University at the February meeting of the board on the Carbondale campus Thursday.

William R. Norwood, Elk Grove Village, was elected vice chairman, and Mrs. Margaret Blackshere of Madison was re-elected as secretary.

Rowe, an insurance company executive, has served as a member of the SIU board since 1971.

Elected secretary of the group in 1973, Rowe held that position two years. In 1975, he was elected vice-chairman of the board and was re-elected in 1976. He was elected chairman last year.

Norwood, a United Airlines pilot, has been a member of the board since 1974 and has served as a member of the board's executive committee three years.

As vice-chairman, he replaces Ivan A. Elliott Jr. of Carmi, who has served a total of four years as chairman and five years as vice-chairman of the board. Elliott has been a member since 1967.

Mrs. Blackshere, an elementary school teacher in Madison and an Illinois Federation of Teachers official, has been a member of the SIU board since 1973. This will be her fourth term as secretary.

Members of the SIU Board executive committee and board representatives to state systems and boards also were elected Thursday. They include:

Executive committee—Carol Kimmel of Rock Island and Wayne Heiber of Belleville.

Board of Trustees, State Universities Retirement System—Norwood.

Merit Board, University Civil Service System—Elliott.

Suspend student

A 16-year-old Granite City South High student has been suspended for two weeks and is facing juvenile court action after he was found with a quantity of handrolled cigarettes, believed to be marijuana, in his possession Thursday at school.

Police said the youth admitted selling the cigarettes for $1 each, and a high school administrator noted the same student was caught smoking marijuana on the school grounds in October.

High school monitors noticing a strong scent of marijuana near the school shop area Wednesday, decided Thursday to conceal themselves and watch for developments before school started, they said.

About 10 youths, who had gathered in the hallway outside the shop, were searched by the monitors and one boy was found to have the cigarettes in a plastic bag inside his jeans.

The cigarettes were sent to a laboratory for analysis and the student was taken to police headquarters. Later, he was released by the juvenile officer to his parents, pending future action.

Hope to start TV Channel 18 in 1980

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees on Thursday approved an agreement with Northwestern Illinois Public Television, Inc. (SIPT) for the development and operation of educational television facilities at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. SIPT is a consortium of three groups: SIUE, Area V public schools, and the Metro-East St. Louis Regional Council on Interinstitutional Cooperation, in addition to public members from Madison and St. Clair Counties.

If capital funding requests are approved, SIPT proposes to broadcast on Channel 18, utilizing the color television studio at SIUE.

At its meeting of May 13, 1976, the SIU board approved the general development plan for educational television at SIUE. Since that time, stages of the plan have been completed, including in corporation of SIPT and preparation of materials for license and permit applications to be submitted to the Federal Communications Commission.

The agreement approved Thursday establishes the relationships between the university and SIPT and the requirements and conditions which will govern the operation of the educational television station here.

Approval and execution of the agreement was necessary for SIPT to submit complete materials to the FCC in support of its applications for license and permits.

In the 1978-79 fiscal year High Education Capital Project

Priority List approved Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, SIPT is ranked No. 72 for funding of $1.5 million for a broadcast tower and related facilities. SIPT also has requested an operating budget of $273,100 for FY 1978-79 beginning July 1, 1978.

According to John Regnell, executive director of SIPT and director of the SIUE Broadcasting Service, if funding is obtained as projected, Channel 18 could be operational by December 1980.

BUST OF LINCOLN is displayed by John Frank of St. Charles, Mo., nationally known sculptor and painter, during a meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club Thursday afternoon. Frank, who was the speaker at the club luncheon session, has produced many busts and carvings of Abraham Lincoln, inspired by a lifelong admiration of Lincoln. (Press-Record Photo)

Lincolnan sculptor guest speaker at Optimist meet

John Frank of St. Charles, Mo., nationally recognized sculptor of Abraham Lincoln statues and busts, was the guest speaker at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club in the YMCA.

Frank, invited here by Granite City contractor Gene

Sternberg, a Lincoln historian, brought with him several carved Lincoln busts and statues and a blank block of wood on which he started another bust of Lincoln he intends to title "the Granite City Optimist Lincoln," since its carving was begun at that meeting.

He also showed a Lincoln bust he intends to present in the near future to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children dedicated to the children who are there, have been there and will be there in the future.

Frank said he presented a Lincoln bust to Richard Nixon and his wife while Nixon was in the White House, but with the subsequent turmoil leading to Nixon's resignation, the piece has been temporarily mislaid. While starting his latest carving, Frank discussed the tools used in wood carving and gave several Optimist members an opportunity to actually carve a piece out of the wood block, thus having a hand in the carving of the bust.

He also displayed "a life mask" of Lincoln which is a direct copy of the plaster mask actually made on Lincoln's face when he was alive. He showed how calipers, which measure size, are used to compare the proportions of various parts of the face with the bust being carved.

Frank is a self-taught sculptor and has been a Lincoln historian for many years. For the American Bicentennial, he constructed a log cabin with logs from several cabins in St. Peters, Mo., Base Station in St. Charles County and other sources.

Also on display at the meeting were items from Sternberg's personal collection of Lincoln artifacts and historical pieces, including statues and carvings of Lincoln Frank did under commission to Sternberg.

Legislator opposes raise, notes many qualified candidates

Guest comment by State Representative Everett G. Steele of the Illinois 56th Legislative District. In recent years, it has been reported that a Blue Ribbon Citizens Commission has recommended an increase in salaries for Illinois state officials, ranging from a $25,000 increase for the governor and Supreme Court judges, to a $10,000 raise per year for legislators.

Such proposed raises must first come before the legislature for approval, and I would hope they would be defeated. A similar pay raise proposal was turned down by the legislature one year ago.

I oppose such proposed raises for the following reasons:

1. Illinois at present compares favorably with other major industrial states in compensation paid their officials. Last year, for instance, legislators in other similar states received compensation as follows: Pennsylvania ($18,720); New York ($23,500); Ohio ($17,500); Wisconsin ($17,843); California ($23,232); Michigan ($23,250); Massachusetts ($14,940). (The Illinois pay is $20,000.)

2. At present pay levels, there is no shortage of qualified candidates seeking election to the legislature. For example, in the 44th Legislative District, which includes Bloomington, Ill., 15 candidates of considerable ability have filed for the three legislative offices there. In the 12th Legislative District of Chicago, there are 12 candidates seeking the three legislative positions — at present pay levels.

At a time in Illinois when restraint in state spending is needed, and there is no shortage of qualified candidates available for state officials, the suggested pay raises for state officials are excessive and should be defeated.

Dissatisfied by government attitude on chemical waste site

The Bend Enterprise — Wilsonville, a community surrounded by fertile prairie land with a drainage leeway to the Cahokia Creek and ultimately to the Mississippi River, discovered that dangerous chemical wastes from various parts of the country were being brought to the Earline site for burial adjacent to residences, including the transfer of PCBs from Dittmer, Mo.

The role and involvement of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency brought forth many doubts concerning the citizens and area residents concerning the skills and motivations of IEPA for protecting the environment. The president of Earline was a former IEPA official.

A letter to area residents indicated that Earline was to be a research and recycling operation. The owner of the land leased to Earline is regional director for SCA of Boston, listed in a waste management magazine as the operators of the site.

Unable or unwilling to confront the issues or a representative citizen group from Wilsonville and area in the Springfield office, the director of Illinois EPA sent a request to the federal EPA that went to regional headquarters in Chicago.

The difficulty of finding responsibility in bureaucratic appointive bodies was confirmed in a Waste Management EPA conference in Washington last winter when participants characterized efforts to promulgate a body of rules and regulations for adequate industrial waste disposal as inconsistent, imponderable and irresponsible.

Whether the U.S. EPA is national or federal remains unclear. Department of Transportation and EPA officials have not resolved differences involving chemical waste hauling.

Trucks loaded with poison, corrosive, explosive and flammable with estimates of weight at 40 tons or better go unhampered and unregulated. Isolated and arbitrary pigeon post observations at state, federal and regional levels can have presumptions and profound implications.

An engineering graduate with the title of chief, Waste Management Branch, U.S. EPA, for the Chicago regional office guided a report after consultation with Earline, the Illinois EPA and an approximate 2 1/2-hour visit to the Earline site with Earline and EPA personnel on June 8, 1977, on a wet day.

Cross-examination of defense witnesses and participants in the overlook report by plaintiffs' attorneys indicate a consensus language was sought. Some worked to phrase conclusions. Some original rough drafts that would indicate opinion differences were thrown away. Some didn't take notes. There was an effort to rephrase issues. A rough draft was sent to the IEPA, the agency originating the request, to verify the data.

No borings were taken in the site visit. No samples were taken or tests made in regard to the site. A lot of the information came through a previous day visit with Illinois EPA personnel.

The visit to the site was not surprising. The Illinois EPA has called the previous day. No evaluation was performed as to subsidence at site by the IEPA or U.S. EPA.

Subsidence has significance for lateral migration of liquids. The U.S. EPA did not run any permeability test at the site, and was not aware whether IEPA had run any tests. The overlook group took no water samples and did not receive any analysis at the site.

They were told by Earline people that drums were set in trenches in an orderly manner. There is no leachate collection system at the site, as required for PCB deposits, and no indication of any water. Other discrepancies include a lack of three-dimensional burial coordinates, as required for PCBs, uncertainty of soil material plasticity and unknown amount of ground water.

A regulation indicates ground water should be at least 50 feet below a site. Other unavailable but necessary factors for adequate evaluation include gross factor permeability, analogous tests and compatibility of waste materials. There is no monitoring of flow from trenches. Liquid limits of soil are not known.

Another limited study participant of the overlook group indicated the extent of working with some of the others was a couple phone calls, "but I don't recall the substance." They have their jargon and I have mine." Paragraphs were sometimes changed after interaction in opinion response, and members "sometimes argued about what a paragraph meant."

No information was furnished on plasticity index, liquid limits, and interceptor drain. "Should have read more closely." "There seem to be conflicts in regulation concerning ground water," it was related.

Notice that a previously used permeability factor was based on other places in Illinois was not given. The mine shaft was not examined. There was no notification of the infiltration effect of grass cover on slag pile that could influence ground water.

No samples of any kind were taken for analysis, and a Geological Survey report concerning the water table intersecting the water-laden trench was not made available. "Water table is level at which water will stand in an open pipe that stands in soil."

Sometimes a report can be like an overdue weekend term paper.

Candidate sees bright future for city

To the Editor:
Precinct 8 voters, this is an appeal asking for your vote and support in the March 21 election.

As most of you know, my family and I campaigned very hard in the Fourth Ward alderman election.

Although the bitterly cold weather made it difficult, we did campaign. It looks the same for this one also, but we will campaign.

I am very interested in the future of Granite City, especially Precinct 8. I believe that in the near future the expansion of this great city will have to come our way and recognize this area with high esteem.

Property value will increase, with better fire and police protection, better transportation, more industry, business and better shopping and receiving at the canal. Also, let us not forget the overpass.

We have owned the same home since 1963. My wife, Dorothy and I raised our five beautiful children here before her sudden death June 3, 1977. God rest her soul.

We did not have to live here, but we love our home and neighbors.

Also we put a lot of hard work into building and remodeling our home; not to mention a great deal of money.

I intend to keep on living right here in West Granite, helping all the people I can.

As some of you know, I worked over 20 years at Union Star and Miles Laboratories before the plant closed in 1972. Since 1973, I have been at Granite City Steel. I have attended SIUE.

I am currently a member of the Christian Fellowship Center, Moose Lodge 272 and United Steelworkers Local 30. Anyone 18 years old or older who has not registered to vote should do so, at Schuette's grocery in Crossroads Plaza, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Feb. 17. This will be your last chance for the March 21 election.

One question of the voters—how can anyone who is campaigning for office, or holds an office, do justice to the voters when they have a non-published phone number?

I believe my opposition has a phone, according to the phone book and the telephone operator.

Re-elect one who is not a yes man

To the Editor:
A political debate is in essence a democratic process where we, the citizens and taxpayers, have an opportunity to view, listen, learn and evaluate the credentials of candidates for public office.

A debate will reveal how knowledgeable a candidate is of government and the office he seeks.

Plus, it will reveal short-comings and character traits. The public is entitled to see the candidates in action and form their own opinions as to whether they want them to represent them.

Dan Partney has made a tremendous job as a County Commissioner for the County Board seat Dan now holds. It looks like, at the present, that there will be no challenger.

With the help of the citizens who want good government, he will be re-elected to represent the people and not vested interests.

Partney's acre of performance is worth more than any words of promise. The strongest man in the world is he who stands alone for what is right.

Growth Foundation denounces song

To the Editor:
The board of directors of the Human Growth Foundation denounced the release and promotion of the song "Short People," at its recent directors' meeting in Kansas City, Kan.

HGF is making a displeasure known to the promoter of the record. It plans to incorporate the subject in a forthcoming national medical workshop that addresses psychological and social aspects of short stature and dwarfism in children.

The organization's national president, John Hickey, stated:

"The prejudice, stereotyping and bigotry expressed through the lyrics of the Newman song HGF's 12 years of progress in helping children with growth disorders cope with the physical and psychological aspects of growing up in a height-conscious society."

"Unfortunately, Mr. Newman, an well-known parent of average growth children, do not understand the anguish of children who suffer through nicknames of 'midget,' 'shorty,' 'shrimp,' and now, 'Short People,'" he added.

HGF is a non-profit organization consisting of parents with children afflicted with growth disorders and of concerned members of the medical profession who are attempting to find the causes of and cures for such problems.

The Human Growth Foundation is dedicated to educating the public and medical profession on detecting growth disorders, assisting parents of such children in coping with the problem, and raising money for medical research in this area.

God told the human race to multiply

To the Editor:
To abort or not to abort, that definitely is the question. Who is to live and who is to die?

In the beginning, God told us to be fruitful and multiply. Now we are thinking how to destroy. A beginning and now a great possibility of an end.

Congratulations, 1978! How advanced we are!

Mankind in all his ingeniousness still cannot cure the common cold and yet has turned doctors' "Skill" into mass execution of human souls.

Toas the so-called "miserable" debris into the incinerator.

Can one imagine the year 2000? Help!

Edwin says one thing for Father Edmund. He cared enough to get involved.

Why did this man risk all to do what he did? He died? Surely, this is a man of God.

When the angel of the Lord God came upon Mary, saying "Thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name Jesus."

I have to wonder: What if she had disposed of this child?

And this woman knew no man. Who would better be justified?

Judge has outstanding legal ability

To the Editor:
I was the clerk in the City Court of Granite City — later merged into the Circuit Court — for many years.

Until my recent retirement from public employment, I thought it improper to make a statement about Judge Andy Matosian's candidacy.

For the past 17 years, Andy Matosian had been an associate judge in Madison County and was recently elevated to the position of circuit judge to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of John Gitchell.

There is no candidate for circuit judge in Madison County.

I wish to state at this time that the traditions of the Circuit Court will be continued with the election of Judge Andy Matosian.

I have worked with Judge Matosian for many years and believe strongly in him. His legal ability and honesty are outstanding.

I urge all friends and acquaintances to vote for Judge Andy Matosian in the Democratic primary on March 21.

Regarding the Finish Line Express, Nick Byron, Madison County state's attorney, is fighting the First District Appellate Court because, he says, "Gambling is still against the law in Illinois."

Walking through that door to place a bet is no different than walking up to the $2 window at the race track.

If he is so intent on enforcing the gambling laws Illinois, why doesn't he go out and close down race tracks and bingo games?

Can Granite City afford to post a couple of policemen at the Finish Line Express to intimidate customers?

Does his abortion stand damage Gov. Thompson?

By AL MANNING
SPRINGFIELD — One of the key decisions Gov. James Thompson made during his first year in office involved abortion legislation.

The governor, who has passed his first anniversary in office, vetoed legislation which prohibits public aid payments for abortions.

The veto was overridden by the General Assembly, and the welfare ban is now the law of the state.

Politically speaking, some persons consider that veto the worst action Thompson has taken since becoming governor.

Many of those persons consider abortion a moral issue, not a political or governmental one.

Catholic Bishop Joseph McNicholas issued a strong statement.

"Let's not hide behind the poor. Let's say it loudly and clearly," Gov. Thompson favors the use of money to fund the abortion.

Statements like that, of course, will not help Thompson as he campaigns for re-election. Expressly, since his Democratic opponent, Michael Bakalis, differs with him on the issue.

Even Thompson acknowledges that his position is not the popular one to take. His position differs with President Carter, Congress, the General Assembly and, he thinks, the general public.

Before taking action on the legislation, the governor studied the issue thoroughly, pouring over the arguments each side was making.

Unlike many of the veto messages, this one was the abortion one personally.

"This is not a bill which changes the law of abortion," he said. "The federal Constitution and the Illinois law require that, with certain exceptions, the choice of abortion is the choice of the woman alone. No governor or legislature have the power to change the Constitution and the law."

"This is not a bill to reduce the costs of public aid. At heart, though, this bill simply denies a constitutional right to some women because they are poor."

"In the end, a man can act only out of a sense of duty and

Gangs problem inside Stateville

By JOHN WHITSETTE

JOLIET — Violence and fear are a part of life inside Stateville Penitentiary. So are the gangs, homosexuality, weapons, fights, power struggles, stabbings and even murder.

Assistant warden Nicholas Melas doesn't try to hide those facts with jargon. He talks about them openly. But he doesn't understand why such things are so shocking to the outside world.

"Some so-called experts seem to think these people pass through our gates not as convicts but as residents," he said. "They think wearing mystical, magical or godly happens then that transfers them into something angelic. That's just not true."

"These are persons who are convicted of felonies, that means murderers, armed robbers, rapists... you can't even really count on them to follow the simplest rules and orders of the facility," he said.

Stateville has 2,700 convicts crowded into a prison made to hold about 1,600.

At the most there are 148 security persons on an average day. This includes lower guards, security gate guards and supervisors.

A deep subculture exists among the inmate population. Blacks outnumber whites 5-1 in that population. Many belonged to street gangs before they came to prison. Others are pressured into gangs to survive.

"It's just impossible for us to all know each other," Melas said. "We are often powerless to act. Each resident has to receive due process of law."

"That means we have to catch someone in the act to do something out of it."

Let's say one guard was seriously stabbed, another was murdered and two inmates were stabbed. Inmate attacks upon inmates are a weekly occurrence.

"Attacks upon staff members are less frequent," Melas said. "Violence against the staff is the exception to the rule."

The people we are dealing with have already demonstrated their violence."

Most of the clashes are with fists or clubs, some with knives. Weapons are made from anything from a ballpoint pen to a piece of pipe. Gangs are a big element in the prison, almost a constant problem and under investigation by the administration.

Melas admits an inmate will have difficulties in just trying to do his time. He will need a lot of luck in getting assigned to the right housing unit, group and work assignment to do that time.

The fear among some inmates is genuine, he said. Some at Stateville shouldn't be assigned to maximum security, he said, but overcrowding in the state prisons means placement by where there are beds.

conscience. The constitution of Illinois confers that duty upon the governor and my conscience has told me how to answer it, whatever the political cost."

"I hereby return the bill, withholding my approval, and ask you to prayerfully and carefully consider the human consequences involved if you reaffirm your initial decision that this bill shall be law."

Some of Thompson's supporters think it an extraordinary message, one which will be cited later when a scholarly evaluation of the Thompson administration is made.

Politically speaking, they don't think he will be damaged that much by the veto since it was overridden. Persons who agree with Thompson's position can take satisfaction in that he vetoed the measure.

Persons who disagree with Thompson's position can take satisfaction in that their point of view was successful and the ban on state payment for abortions is now the law of the state.

The abortion issue, of course, is not restricted to Illinois. It is national in scope, one which many states are evaluating.

Thompson's veto was noted by some opinion leaders on the East Coast. These establishment figures sent word the veto impressed them, and that they were taking seriously the talk about him becoming the Republican nominee for president.

Some 375 inmates are voluntarily locked up in a "safe keeping" unit. This unit is divided into three groups, were inmates who can protect themselves; strong, aggressive inmates who need supervision; and a smaller group that is locked up 24 hours of every day.

This last group is composed of inmates who fear going outside their cell without a guard for protection. There are 57 of them. They are seldom stray from behind their locked doors. That's the way they want it.

Melas believes the key to Stateville's problems is to have single occupancy cells, along with a better classification of who is assigned to maximum security. Most inmates are now living in small three-men cells.

Another important factor to less violence is more work details, more recreation and more training in vocational and educational programs.

"A part of that key is to make cell time as minimum as possible," he said. "You can't have men sitting around doing nothing. That means trouble."

There are hundreds of inmates just sitting around. The daily labor pool is only about 650.

But things are improving. Melas sees some light at the end of the tunnel. Prison facilities are in the process of expanding to handle the overcrowded conditions, he said.

Rev. Arentsen hearing Tuesday

The Rev. Edwin Arentsen who is charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly attempting to confront patient and employees of the Hopland Clinic in Hopland, is appearing in court in Granite City tomorrow.

He is scheduled for docket at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, at which pleadings will be heard but he is not expected to appear at that time, since he already has pleaded innocent and requested a jury trial.

Authorities said his case may be the first on the trial docket, which is at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Seniors afternoon dance Wednesday

The first daytime dance for senior citizens at the new Granite City Township building, 2800 Delmar Ave., will take place at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, immediately following the lunch hour.

All senior residents of Granite City Township are invited to attend. Music will be provided by the American Federation of Musicians, Local 717.

News notes

Granite City Rotarians and Rotary-Anns will hold a Valentine's Day dance at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday night at the Arm Depot.

Parkview Elementary School will honor past presidents at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the school.

"Ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment has been symmed for this year. In the deadline year of 1979, three states would need to join the 3 that have acted, and the possibility of approval is being predicted only in Illinois and Florida.

The U. S. will begin monitoring steel imports for unfair pricing patterns Feb. 21.

Electric bills for residential customers of the Union Electric Co. in Illinois will rise an average of 8.8 percent as a result of a Feb. 8 rate increase granted by the Illinois Commerce Commission. Some Quad-City homes are affected.

The Bi-State Development Agency board decided Friday against continuing sports express bus service unless the state subsidize it. The Redbird Express last year cost $198,700 and earned only $58,456, while the Big Red Express cost $55,695 and earned $15,688.

Bar Foundation awards grants

The Illinois Bar Foundation has awarded grants totaling $18,000 supporting projects aimed at improving the administration of justice and the quality of educational programs.

The Foundation, established by the Illinois State Bar Association, provides grants to worthwhile educational, research and public service activities, in addition to providing pensions to needy lawyers and scholarships and loans to law school students.

The President of the foundation, Howard W. Clement of Chicago, announced approval of a grant totalling $9,600 to support law-related education of children in elementary, intermediate and secondary schools. A major portion of the grant will go to the Law in American Society Foundation (LIASF), headquartered in Chicago.

LIASF provides teacher training programs to encourage education about the law and the American system of justice. A grant of $5,000 was approved by the Foundation's Board of Directors to support the Equal Educational Opportunity program at the University of Illinois College of Law.

The program operates to increase the opportunities for legal education for persons who are members of groups disadvantaged as a result of social, ethnic or geographic factors. When the program was initiated in 1965, the U of I College of Law had one minority student enrolled.

This year, 43 students are enrolled through the Equal Opportunity Program. Applicants who are admitted under the program must meet minimum educational requirements for admission to the law school. The program provides special educational assistance and financial aid.

The Cook County Special Bail

Project will receive a $2,500 grant from the Illinois Bar Foundation. The Special Bail Project is designed to bring about bail reform, and in particular, to support the rights of non-dangerous defendants to freedom from arbitrary confinement pending trial. The Illinois Bar Foundation grant will help the project qualify for matching funds from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

A grant of $1,500 was approved for a study of the use of deadly force (shootings which wound or kill) by and against police officers. The study is being made by the Chicago Law Enforcement Study Group and will include data from over 500 incidents in Chicago between 1974 and 1977 in which on-duty and off-duty Chicago police officers were either the victims of deadly force or used deadly force against others. In addition to these four grants, the Illinois Bar Foundation provides on-going financial assistance in the form of pensions to needy lawyers and their dependents and loans and scholarships for law students.

IBF President Clement said pensions in the last fiscal year totalled $11,300, student loans in the amount of $22,000 were made to 25 students, and a scholarship in the amount of $1,000 was awarded to Southern Illinois University School of Law.

The Illinois Bar Foundation receives its assets primarily from voluntary contributions from members of the Illinois State Bar Association and from memorial contributions and bequests.

Check fruit plants for rabbit damage

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Adviser Deep snow cover and cold temperatures have caused rabbits to seek out apple trees and other fruit plants for food. Buds and bark are quite palatable to them.

Check your fruit planting to see if damage has occurred. There isn't anything to do where twigs have been cut off or where buds and spurs have been eaten. But if the bark on tree trunks and scaffold limbs have been scarred, the wounded area should be covered with grafting wax or tree paint to prevent drying of the wood. Do this as soon as possible.

If there is a threat of more damage, (1) protect the plants with wire fencing or rabbit repellents; (2) feed them with corn or apple prunings; (3) use your ingenuity to eliminate the rabbits.

Small fruit culture has much to offer the home gardener. One can plant the high quality varieties not available in the markets and can harvest when the flavor is the best. Since small fruits tend to be expensive, home grown fruit offers a saving in the family food budget, and they add to variety in the menu.

Small fruits require relatively little space. With good selection of type and variety, fruit can be produced from late May until it freezes in the fall.

Most small fruit plants require full sun to bear fruit. They also require freedom of competition from roots of nearby trees and shrubs.

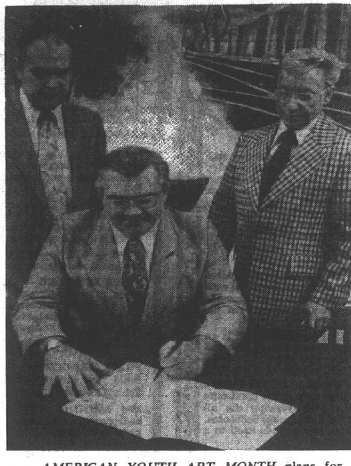

Select a soil that is weed-free, especially of perennial grasses and weeds. Weeds compete strongly with all small fruits many times as the limiting factor in production. Avoid soils that have been producing tomatoes, potatoes, peppers and other vegetables which are susceptible crops. If nothing else is available, then either fumigate the soil or gamble that the plants will survive.

Soil texture and fertility should be improved before planting. A heavy application of rotted manure or compost or a good green manure crop, will improve the texture. A soil test will tell if lime or other nutrients should be added. Blueberries require an acid soil, and should not be planted unless a soil test is made.

Small fruit plants should be ordered from reputable nurseries. The order should be placed early while the desired varieties are still available. Specify varieties that you want after consulting with the Extension Service or your best friend. Order virus-free plants when available, as they should be more vigorous and productive.

An abbreviated list of varieties for SW Illinois home gardens reads as follows: Sunrise, Surecrop, Redchief, and Armore strawberries; Darrow thorn-free blackberry; and Dirksen and Thornfree thornless blackberry; Latham and Heritage red raspberry; Albar Bristol and Cumberland black raspberry; Clyde and Brandy wine purple raspberry; Fallgold yellow raspberry; Collins, Blueberry, Berkeley, Coville, and Herbert blueberry; Pixwell or Welcome gooseberry; Buffalo, Catawba, Concord, Fredonia, Niagara and Steuben grape, and many choices to make in the French Hybrid lines.

There are many other good and adapted varieties but these should perform above average in this area. Request that plants be delivered in late March or early April, plan to plant as soon as they arrive — if the soil is fit for working. If not, store the plants in a cool place or heel them in until conditions are ready for planting.

Proclaims March as Art Month

A proclamation declaring March "American Youth Art Month" has been issued by Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler.

The program will be observed here in cooperation with the National Art Education Association, according to B.J. Davis, superintendent of schools, and Eugene L. Aiassi, art education consultant of the district.

The proclamation said: "Whereas, This March, with the artwork of young people focused on interpreting early American history, parents and interested adults are urged to celebrate Youth Art Month by studying these fresh artistic expressions and to support meaningful art programs.

"Whereas, March, Youth Art Month, a national focus on quality art programs was initiated in 1961 in cooperation with the National Art Education Association and by the governors of the states.

"I, Paul Schuler, mayor of the city of Granite City, do hereby proclaim the month of March 1978 as American Youth Art Month and call upon all citizens to join in saluting art programs in our schools in Granite City, Illinois."

Mini workshop on buttons, beads

The University Center Craftshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will conduct a mini workshop on buttons and beads, Feb. 22 and March 1.

Instructor Brenda Clark will show how to make ceramic buttons, beads and necklace pendants, using simple household gadgets for texture and design.

A $2 fee will be charged to cover costs of clay and firing. Further information may be obtained by contacting the University Center Craft Shop at (618) 692-2178.

Federal excise phone tax drops

Illinois telephone customers got some good news in their phone bills recently: a smaller tax bite effective Jan. 1, according to Ken Evers, Granite City district manager of Illinois Bell.

The federal excise tax on telephone service dropped from five percent to four percent. Illinois Bell collects the excise tax on most telephone services and turns it over to the government. Last year the company collected $81.6 million in federal excise taxes.

The excise tax will continue to shrink until it disappears from telephone bills in 1982 under the provisions of a 1970 law. The first such tax reduction came in 1973, when the rate dropped from 10 to nine percent. The excise tax is scheduled to decline one percentage point a year until its elimination, Evers said.

In addition to a reduced tax rate, some customers may get a few cents back from Uncle Sam because a new law exempts additional charges for state and city taxes from federal excise tax.

The new law, which took effect Jan. 1, specifically exempts from the U.S. tax any state or local retail sales or excise tax which is imposed upon the telephone company and passed on to the customer in the form of additional charges, he said.

In accordance with Illinois law, Illinois Bell passes specified portions of the costs of state and local taxes on to customers. Until the new law was passed last year, U.S. Internal Revenue Service rules required telephone companies to compute the federal excise tax on the basis of the total phone bill — including the additional charges for the Illinois message tax and local utility taxes. Often criticized as a "tax on a tax," this method of computing federal excise taxes was upheld by a federal appeals court in 1971.

The recent change in the way the federal excise tax is levied may mean a credit for some customers, Evers said. This credit will show up as a U.S. tax adjustment on the February phone bills of customers entitled to the tax credit. Customers with low telephone bills won't notice any change because the tax credit will amount to less than a penny.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Mon., Feb. 13, 1978 Page 19

The federal excise tax, what's left of it, will continue to apply to monthly telephone service and long distance charges.

Federal excise taxes were first added to phone bills (temporarily in 1914 and were reimposed as an emergency measure during World War II. They have been part of telephone bills ever since, despite telephone industry efforts to have the tax repealed.

You simply come to us for a real estate loan backed by your equity.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

Real estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real estate

10¢ bus fare for aged, handicapped; forms at city halls, Venice library

Application forms for special identification cards entitling senior citizens and persons with physical or mental handicaps to ride Bi-State buses for as little as 10 cents are available at city libraries, city halls, and other locations throughout the transit system's service area.

In response to increasing interest in the card program, Bi-State has prepared a list of locations where the applications may be obtained. Those eligible for the cards may ride Bi-State buses for 10 cents at all times except during weekday rush hours (6-9 a.m., 4-6 p.m.) when their fare is 15 cents.

They also do not pay zone or transfer charges. Card applicants must fill out the appropriate form and have it certified at any of dozens of authorized agencies throughout the region.

The locations of the certifying agencies may be obtained by calling a special Bi-State number 771-2200 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. For certification, senior citizens must produce proof of age in the form of a marriage license, birth certificate, driver's license or similar identification document. The application of a handicapped person must be signed by a doctor.

The completed and certified form will then be forwarded by the certifying agency to Bi-State, which will send the card to the applicant, or the applicant may bring the form directly to Bi-State's general offices, 3869 Park Ave., St. Louis, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cards are only issued at the main office, not by any certifying agency or application distribution location.

The reduced fare identification card is one phase of Bi-State's comprehensive program to better serve elderly and handicapped riders.

In 1977, the agency introduced 157 buses equipped with wheelchair lifts on 22 routes, the first such regular-line service in the nation. And 380 Bi-State buses now have a "kneeling" feature enabling the operator, upon request, to lower the front of the vehicle for easier boarding.

One hundred new passenger shelters have been constructed, and 1,100 more are planned for completion by 1981. Bi-State has promoted the new services through public meetings and an advertising campaign.

Senior citizen and handicapped identification cards are available at the following Illinois locations: East St. Louis Public Library, 405 N. 9th St.

Venice Public Library, 335 Broadway.

City Halls in Illinois portion of Bi-State service area: At St. Louis, 200 S. 10th St.

At St. Louis Belleville Station, 406 W. Main St.

IEA ignores member at candidate screening

Joan Seamen, a Democratic primary candidate for state representative in the 56th District, led a demonstration of her supporters outside IEA offices at 2110D Troy Road, Edwardsville, to protest treatment given her by the candidate screening committee of the Illinois Education Association-Thursday night.

Mrs. Seamen claimed that representatives of the IEA had not given her a fair opportunity to present her views in behalf of her candidacy.

Since I first learned that the screening committee was going to hear the views of the various candidates," she asserted, "I have been getting nothing but a runaround."

"I called officials on every level trying to get hard information as to when the committee would meet and the kind of concerns it would be hearing."

"I was told only that the association's higher-ups seemed to be satisfied with the information as to when the committee would meet and the kind of concerns it would be hearing."

"In my judgment, it's the duty of a legislator to do more than simply 'vote right' automatically when some interest group exerts pressure."

"As a teacher, a taxpayer citizen, a mother, and a woman who cares about personal integrity and the kind of action in Springfield that can get things done, I have too much self-respect to accept the support of an organization that operates in this manner."

Calling on all fellow teachers and members of the association to condemn such tactics, Mrs. Seamen said, "I think that I am fast entitled to an apology from an organization I have paid dues to for so many years, since I was denied a hearing."

"The public is entitled to an explanation of why an organization claiming to represent those who are in daily contact with the young people, who are the future of this area, can't conduct its business out in the open."

Groups studying cultural, family, youth entertainment for Festival

President Kenneth A. Shaw of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Thursday announced the establishment of an Ad Hoc Mississippi River Festival (MRF) Committee to develop recommendations for a possible 1978 summer MRF program.

In a report to the SIUE Board of Trustees, the president announced the appointment of the committee after receiving resolutions from the University Senate and Student Senate conditionally favoring continuation of the Festival.

The committee, composed of two administrators, five students, three students, two faculty and two members of the community, has been asked to make its initial recommendations on or before March 3. The first meeting of the group was held Friday.

Members of the committee appointed by the president are: Administrators — Ralph W. Ruffner, senior vice president for planning and review, and was designated by the president to serve as chairman of the committee and who will be a non-voting member, and Annette Mulvany Graebe, coordinator of the University Information Center.

Students — Roland Erwin, a graduate student from Edwardsville; Leroy Eckhardt of Belleville; Cindy Huckleberry of Granite City; Larry D. Ward, a graduate student from East St. Louis; and Tom Werner of Edwardsville. Alternates — Peggy Haydon, a graduate student from Wood River; Wilma Saunders of St. Louis; and Lynne Alessandrini, Belleville.

Faculty — David Huntley, chairman of the department of fine arts and design of the School of Fine Arts and Communications; and Alfred Kahn, acting director of the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services.

Community — Sue Hepler and Russell C. Solomon Jr., both of Edwardsville, and both members of the MRF, Inc., board of directors.

Pres. Shaw said the primary initial charge to the committee is to develop recommendations pertinent to the question, "What is the best way for the university to organize itself in order to plan and implement a summer 1978 MRF program?"

The president also asked the committee to focus on the possibility of contracting with independent promoters, or professional "talent buyers," as an option to the "in house" approach to booking acts that has been used by the MRF in the past.

He said responsibility for the cultural arts aspect of the Festival has been vested in Vice-President and Provost Earl Lazerson, who has appointed a Task Force on a Cultural Arts Program "to make recommendations with regard to programming, funding and administration of an academic affairs cultural arts program."

Members of the task force are: William Tarwater, chairman of the department of music and designated chairman of the task force; Alfred Kahn, acting director of the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services; Aline Wiltz Jr., associate professor, department of theater and dance; Dan Havens, professor, department of English language and literature; David Huntley, chairman of the department of art and design.

Jeanelle Stovall, assistant to the program director of the Performing Arts Training Center; William Vilhauer, chairman of the department of theater and dance.

Barbara Tirre, assistant professor, department of mass communications; Raymond LaGarde, chairman of the faculty of marketing; Frank Siano, director of programming, University Center.

Robert Campbell, professor, department of sociology; Pat Goehle, assistant professor, department of speech communication; and the graduate students: Dennis Crook, Belleville; Gerald Tilley, Cahokia; and Robert Scroggins, Kansas City, Mo.

"BE IT RESOLVED, 'That the spirit of MRF be continued, with emphasis being given to events which reach a wide spectrum of the metropolitan area events that appeal to persons of a variety of backgrounds, and to all age groups."

"These activities should include what we typically describe as cultural arts (symphony music, dance, plays, etc.) and what is commonly referred to as family and youth entertainment."

"Both of these major categories should continue to be a vital part of the future programmatic considerations, and programs should be designed to increase the appeal of the university to the region it serves."

"There shall be a number of structural changes in the MRF format to provide for more accountability. Cultural arts activities should be managerially separated from family and youth entertainment."

"While it will be essential that these two functions be planned in a coordinated fashion, their management structures should be distinct."

"That the university assume responsibility for funding, to the best of its ability, the cultural arts portion of the MRF programming, and that it offer minimal subsidy for the family and youth entertainment aspect. The latter should be expected to operate on a break-even basis, at the very least."

"That this changed structure and format be utilized for a three-year experimental period."

A week later, the Student Senate approved the concept of the MRF but moved to withhold a three-year annual subsidy of $50,000, which had been proposed by Dr. Shaw, until the Senate receives a report on the recommendations of the Ad Hoc Committee established by the president.

The Senate's presentation to the University Senate and Student Senate included copies of an intensive internal audit of MRF; the report of Chris Fahlman, manager of the Blossom Music Center, Cuyahoga Falls, O., who was retained as a professional consultant to provide an evaluation of MRF management and program; and a report by Earl Lazerson, SIUE vice-president and provost, who conducted an evaluation of MRF in terms of its academic benefits.

The SIUE president announced in October the steps the university would be taking to evaluate the Festival and to make recommendations for the future.

The announcement was made after the university received final financial reports for the 1977 MRF season which indicated the Festival lost $117,467 in its ninth year of operations and had a net accumulated deficit of $171,831 from the 1976 season.

The 1977 season attracted 96,919 persons to 42 events during the nine-week summer series.

Included were 26 performances in the fine arts series, theater, talent shows, and films, as well as nine folk-rock programs and seven family programs.

Carroll R. Chamness as "Vinnie," Gary A. Wilbur as "Speed" and Warren Lee Jones as "Roy." The play will be presented in the South auditorium Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. on each night.

'The Odd Couple' opens Thursday

Members of the Granite City High School faculty will present the play "The Odd Couple" at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 14, at 8 p.m. on Friday, in the school auditorium.

The play is under the direction of Ronald E. Pennell, speech department chairman at South.

Among the South faculty in the play are: Carroll R. Chamness of the English department playing "Vinnie," Gary A. Wilbur of the math department as "Speed," Warren Lee Jones of the math department as "Roy," Walter J. Padgett, counselor, as "Oscar," Carol Ann Lichter, home economics, as "Gwendolyn," Sheryl K. Evans, counselor, as "Cecily" and William J. Smoltz of the art department as "Felix." Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students and will be available at the door.

A South faculty play is not new, but rather a tradition. Last year the faculty presented "Aresenic and Old Lace," which was preceded by "Barefoot in the Park."

The faculty plays present the staff an opportunity to work together in an unusual and creative way and provides the students, who assist, an additional educational experience, a spokesman said.

Scott seeks revers in Alaskan wildlife case

Attorney General William J. Scott has filed a brief in the Federal Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit urging the court to reverse a decision entered by the District Court in Alaska vs. Andrus.

Judge Von Der Heydt ruled last year that Secretary of the Interior Cecil D. Andrus, had authority under the Bureau of Land Management Act to put a stop to a state of Alaska program designed to protect the western Arctic caribou herd.

Since 1970 the caribou population in the Alaska area involved has plummeted from 244,000 animals to 60,000, which may in part be due to the construction of the Alaska Oil Pipeline.

The Alaska Department of Fish and Game sought to protect the herd by reducing wolf predation and prohibiting all caribou hunting except for subsistence hunting by Eskimos.

Scott indicated that the case threatened to overturn the right that each state has to manage wildlife within its borders.

"This is not a case where state action threatens migratory or endangered wildlife," Scott said. "Here the question is whether the federal government will be permitted to upset a well-established legal principle that states have the right to manage wildlife in the best interests of their citizens."

Scott stated that the state of Illinois is interested in the court's decision because of the potentially detrimental effect of an adverse decision could have on existing Illinois Department of Conservation programs in the Shawnee National Forest and throughout the state to protect and perpetuate native wildlife species.

Today the greatest threat to Illinois wildlife is habitat destruction by urban developers," Scott said.

ERA backers back Bakalis

Dorothy Haegle, director of the Alton Equal Rights Amendment Information Center, returned Wednesday from Chicago, where she attended an ERA summit strategy meeting called by a candidate for governor, Michael J. Bakalis.

"For the first time," she said, "legislative leadership met with key organization representatives to assess ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment in Illinois this spring."

"What a refreshing change to see a leader! Dr. Bakalis offers Illinoisans a chance to reverse the cliché that the great Illinois rail-splitter has become the great rail-sitter."

"Dr. Bakalis stressed the need to broaden the base of support to involve more men and thereby refute the false impression that the amendment is a woman's issue."

"The amendment is a human rights issue, and no one expects the damaging results of what the late Senator Hubert Humphrey described as 'injustice and discrimination that still disgrace this country's laws and customs.'"

"Further discussion touched upon separating the amendment from the Democratic nomination for the schools to educate children. It is the height of audacity for politicians to be recommending such high pay raises for themselves."

His comments were in response to the recommendations last Wednesday of a special commission which advocated pay increases for officials in all three branches of Illinois government.

Maragides said that "at a time when the state isn't even enough money to adequately with it, the planned political activity of various organizations, and the convention boycott."

The boycott, which has jumped from 30 organizations last fall to more than 100 now, is growing. It affects the entire state, although Chicago is hardest hit," she concluded.

"It is a moral issue, but we must act politically. It requires involvement of leadership," Dr. Bakalis added.

Asked if they will meet with Republican leadership, a group spokesman replied, "We would like that, if we could find any Republican leadership."

Objects to state pay raises

Steve Maragides, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator, said today that if elected he would vote against any pay increase for officials in the state of Illinois in a fiscal crisis.

His comments were in response to the recommendations last Wednesday of a special commission which advocated pay increases for officials in all three branches of Illinois government.

TROPICAL FRUIT SALE

FRESH COCONUTS

2 $1.00

For

Hundreds of millions of people in Tropical and subtropical countries use coconuts daily, world production being 26-27 billion nuts a year. How do you get to the meat and milk? There are 3 soft spots at the top of the shell, pierce these with an ice pick, or similar sharp instrument, drain the milk, then tap all over with a hammer until the hard shell cracks and falls. Another way to break off the shell is to heat the nut in the oven for 30 minutes at 350°F. The coconut can be eaten by hand without further preparation, or substituted dried, packaged coconut recipes. A tropical fruit for your convenience at your friendly Kroger Store.
